U.S. May Boost Military Action In Southeast Asia

Johnson Eyes Election

Training Sights On Grand-Slam Victory At Polls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lyndon Baines Johnson, today six months in the presidency, is reported to be training his sights on a grand-slam victory at the polls in November — 50 states and the District of Columbia.

Johnson, who stepped out of the background Nov. 22 to grasp the torch of government from the fallen John F. Kennedy, often talks—Texas style—about "standing tall."

Friends say he hopes to stand taller on the political horizon in another six months than any other president in U.S. history.

And like the army of other politicians, small and mighty, Johnson intends to stand on his record.

He has, in this half-year from autumn to spring, labored like a muledriver to try to whip the New Frontier legislative program through Congress — but emblazoned with the fresh LBJ brand.

A dedicated poll watcher, Johnson is very much aware that a recent Gallup poll credits him with greater popularity than President Franklin D. Roosevelt enjoyed in May 1936.

That was the year FDR carried every state except Maine and Vermont, rolling up a landslide record that still stands.

Johnson calls Roosevelt his "second daddy," but being a man who likes to stand tall he intends to do his "dead level best"—a pet Johnson phrase—to beat that record.

If this sounds audacious, the President is not one to sell himself short. Woven into the record of his first six months in office is a never-say-die spirit.

As leader of Senate Democrats in the 1950s, Johnson's strong point was an ability to compromise the views of opposing factions and fashion coalitions capable of enacting major legislation. In fact, his emphasis on compromise was so marked that, at times, disgruntled Democrats labeled him "lying down Lyndon."

As President, Johnson has been a different kind of leader. Time and again, he has refused to take no for an answer.

When Congress has defeated or pigeonholed important administration bills, he has insisted on another vote. This has been true of measures to raise the pay of federal executives, to finance the International Development Association, to extend the food stamp plan, to provide price supports for wheat growers. And when the House voted last December for a foreign aid rider aimed at thwarting wheat sales to the Soviet Union, Johnson won a reversal.

Sometimes it seems that Johnson believes all things are possible if the presidential will is steadfast.

Certainly this was true of his approach to the five-year-old dispute that threatened a national rail strike. While some advisers warned that Johnson would risk injury to his prestige by committing the force of the presidency to a hopeless cause, he went ahead and staged last-ditch negotiations in the White House. He got the settlement.

The rail agreement was widely regarded as something of a miracle. So, too, was enactment of the biggest tax cut in history.

When Johnson took office, it

Rights Bill Backers Eye Johnson Aid

Says He's 'Can Do' Man In Final Push For Its Passage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bipartisan proponents of the civil rights bill said today they are counting on President Johnson to supply the final push for passage.

"He's the 'can do' man," assistant Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey told a reporter. "He knows how to get things done."

So, Humphrey said, when the drive for cloture to still the Southern filibuster is made early next month, the President will be called on to help sway undecided senators.

A Republican civil rights supporter, Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont, agreed with Humphrey, the bill's floor manager.

"I've told the White House that we've done all that statesmanship can do," Aiken, a twinkle in his eye, said in a separate interview. "We need about three or four more votes and it's up to the White House to provide them."

Southern opponents of the civil rights measure said the Senate leadership already is applying pressure.

Before the Senate met for its 62nd session on civil rights, Republicans scheduled another conference to consider the package of amendments prepared by GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen and Democratic civil rights advocates in consultation with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Dirksen said he hopes the Republicans can "button up" the bill at the session, and he scheduled a later huddle with Humphrey, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and other rights strategists.

Considers Strikes At North Viet

Landing Of Forces In Thailand Also Being Given Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — The start of U.S. jet reconnaissance flights over Red - threatened Laos may be only the first of several actions enlarging American military operations in Southeast Asia, officials said today.

Faced with Communist advances posing increasingly serious threats to Laos and neighboring South Viet Nam, U.S. policymakers have been considering a wide variety of moves, including:

Strikes against North Viet Nam, dispatch of more air and sea power into the area, landing of forces in Thailand if the Thai government agrees such help is necessary, and direct military intervention in Laos itself.

Further steps will be ordered, officials said, if the situation continues to deteriorate.

In another development, not necessarily connected with the Laotian crisis, a Navy carrier squadron has left the Indian Ocean and rejoined the main body of the U.S. 7th Fleet in the Pacific, it was learned today. It brings to three the force of big attack carriers in Far Eastern waters.

Officials said they were not certain how quickly the confrontation in Southeast Asia would reach a showdown stage if diplomacy fails to find a way out of the present crisis.

Events could develop quickly, however, depending on what the Communists decide to do.

President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk were described as still hopeful that diplomatic pressures on the Communist powers and the prospect of greater U.S. military involvement in the area would cause the Communists to stop their offensive campaign against the forces of the neutralist Laotian government.

The reconnaissance flights were announced by the State Department Thursday after Peking Radio broadcast a report that Communist Pathet Lao troops had fired on two U.S. jet planes flying over the Plaine des Jarres.

The State Department said the United States had undertaken the reconnaissance flight in response to a request from the Lao government.

Along 'Strip' In Hancock

Gambling Clubs Buy More Land

Club 30, the Jockey Club and the Red Dog — all representing heavy investments reportedly financed by bigtime gambling syndicates—lie idle in The Strip on U. S. Route 30 in northern Hancock County.

The last of the three gambling clubs, the Red Dog, closed down (except for the restaurant) in March after the 8th District U.S. Appellate Court had upheld the conviction of Andrew S. Bass, a Memphis (Tenn.) racketeer, under provisions of a new section of the federal criminal code dealing with interstate gambling. Bass was sentenced to five years and fined $10,000.

BUT ALL is not quiet along The Strip. Personal and real estate property taxes have been paid on the three big clubs and new land purchased.

Two Pittsburgh brothers long associated with the Jockey Club and the Red Dog have acquired 39 acres on State Rt. 2 just south of The Strip.

Records in the Courthouse in New Cumberland show that Vincent Pecora, 51, bought two tracts on Rt. 2 at the intersection of Middle Run Rd., which leads to Newell. Later he transferred half-interest to his brother Joseph N., 44.

ONE TRACT contains 25.8 acres and the other 14 and both were bought from Albert G. Bailey for $4,000.

A mailbox on the highway contains one name—Pecora.

Joseph N. Pecora was one of 13 persons indicted by a U.S. Grand Jury in Wheeling after a company of 100 FBI agents raided the Jockey Club Feb. 16, 1963.

Charges against him and 10 others were dismissed by U.S. Judge Charles N. Paul who ruled the G-men had failed to make a case under the new code. A jury then found Charles F. (Chuck) Teemer and Domenick Caputa not guilty.

Teemer lived in a trailer at the Jockey Club and also maintained a residence in Hollywood, Fla. Caputo lived in Youngstown.

VINCENT Pecora was not arrested in the FBI raid on the Jockey Club but was taken into custody by state troopers a few hours later and he, Joseph N.

Rosenshine's Trial Slated On 8 Charges

Attorney Will Face Court June 17-26 For Grand Larceny

NEW CUMBERLAND — Suspended Weirton attorney Morton H. Rosenshine, 46, named in 11 indictments returned by the April Grand Jury, is to stand trial in June on eight counts of grand larceny.

Judge James G. McClure ordered the defendant to enter innocent pleas to the eight counts of grand larceny in proceedings Thursday in Hancock County Circuit Court, and set June 17-26 as the date for a series of eight trials.

Rosenshine pleaded "no contest" to two other grand larceny indictments and is slated for sentencing June 16 at 9 a.m. Judge McClure could sent Rosenshine to prison for 10 years on each.

The 11th indictment against Rosenshine charging forgery was dismissed by Judge McClure, as requested in a motion filed earlier by the defendant's counsel, Atty. Abraham Pinsky.

Judge McClure also granted Atty. Pinsky's request that the second part of the count in each of the 10 indictments of grand larceny and embezzlement be quashed, leaving only the grand larceny accusations.

The proceedings mean Rosenshine is to stand trial on eight grand larceny indictments beginning June 17.

The suspended attorney pleaded "no contest" to Indictment No. 141 and Indictment No. 146. The first charges he stole $3,450 from Glen Northcraft on May 16, 1962, and Indictment No. 146 alleges he stole $1,700 from A. E. Hepps on May 1, 1962.

Atty. Pinsky entered the "no

Goal Is $25,000

Scholarship Foundation Reports Fund At $16,411

A total of $16,411 in cash and pledges has been received so far in the annual "Dollars for Scholars" fund drive, it was reported at a meeting of the Citizens Scholarship Foundation Thursday night at the Westgate School.

Robert Conroy, drive manager, said the campaign has $6,300 outstanding in pledges, and James Allison, treasurer, said $10,000 has been received in cash.

A goal of $25,000 has been set for the drive in seven school districts to provide finances for worthy students to attend college.

The breakdown of funds designated for use in each district shows: East Liverpool — $1,172; Wellsville — $963; Oak Glen — $850; Beaver Local — $1,165; Midland — $545; Western Beaver — $648, and South Side — $437.

Undesignated funds, or money to be utilized on a shared basis by all districts, amounted to $9,062.

There is also $529 remaining from the 1963 drive for use by all districts.

A total of 107 applications have been received from students in the seven districts — three times the amount of last year.

In 1963, there were 21 students benefited by the foundation which distributed over $9,000 for five school districts.

With the drive $9,000 short, the foundation will continue efforts to obtain more funds, especially in the area of industry solicitations in districts not yet contacted.

Conroy commended James Ashcroft of South Side and Mrs. M. C. Renwick of Western Beaver for outstanding work in the initial drive in their school districts, which do not have sizeable industries to aid in the campaign.

The banquet at which the awards will be presented will be held June 17 at St. Aloysius Parochial School.

The speaker will be Milton K. Susman, of Pittsburgh, public relations specialist.

The applications for the scholarships have been turned over to the screening comittee for study, Joe Coons, president, announced.

Final selections will be made within the next three weeks.

Only 15 of last year's scholarship recipients re-applied for scholarships this year, it was announced.

Mrs. Michael Turk, East Liverpool area trustee, stressed that anyone not contacted for contributions for the drive may send their amount to "Dollars for Scholars," Box 458, East Liverpool, or to Conroy, in care of The Review.

Hancock Vote Recount Held Up By Illness

Illness of Hancock County Commissioner Robert E. (Chick) Roach of New Cumberland has forced county authorities to postpone until Tuesday morning at 9 start of recounts of votes cast in the primary May 12.

Roach, 56, became ill at New Cumberland Junior High School Thursday noon and was taken to Weirton General Hospital where he was in "fair" condition today. He has been under treatment for gastritis.

Tied For U.S. Senate Bid

Blatt-Musmanno Recount Ordered In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — As a result of numerous complaints and legal action in the tense struggle for the Democratic party's U.S. senator nomination, the Philadelphia County Board of Election has ordered a complete recount of the votes cast here in the April 28 primary election.

The announcement that all of the city's 3,300 voting machines would be reopened came as Justice Michael A. Musmanno of the State Supreme Court and State Secretary of Internal Affairs Genevieve Blatt in a tie for the nomination.

Maurice S. Osser, county commission chairman, said the action was taken without outside pressures. He estimated it would take three days to complete the recount.

Thursday's recount gave Miss Blatt an additional 123 votes. These had been registered on the machine but had not been marked on a tally sheet. Musmanno got credit for 68 votes on the machines. Thus Miss Blatt had an edge of 55 votes.

This brought the unofficial total figurse in Philadelphia to 67,993 votes for Miss Blatt and 128,256 for Musmanno.

Some 544 absentee ballots have been challenged. The deadlock ensued when a court ordered check of 90 Philadelphia voting machines showed a net error of 172 votes in favor of Miss Blatt.

The complete and official vote in 63 of the state's 67 counties gave Miss Blatt 365,788 votes to 282,292 for Musmanno. This does not include Philadelphia, Lackawanna, Washington and Somerset Counties. The State Elections Bureau has certified the vote in 51 counties.

In Lackawanna, Blatt polled 6,546 to 23,921 for the jurist. She received 16,430 in Washington to 19,996 for Musmanno, and 3,949 in Somerset to 2,227 for Musmanno. In Lackawanna 442 absentee ballots are challenged, with 28 absentees challenged in Washington.

Health Board Acts To Fill Sanitary Post

The Board of Health Thursday night decided to ask the Municipal Civil Service Commission to furnish a list of names for appointment as a sanitary policeman.

The board cited the increased work load and the illness of Health Commissioner Septimus Cook, who also has been serving as an inspector.

With its decision to enforce the city milk ordinance immediately, the board pointed out the ordinance provides not only for payment of fees, but for inspection of the farm of each producer who furnishes milk for a dairy.

At present, only Gene Smith, sanitary policeman, is available for inspections of the farms but also for other inspections and investigation of complaints.

Cook, confined to a St. Petersburg (Fla.) hospital after becoming ill on vacation, was granted an extension of his vacation time pending his release by his physician.

The board also was advised a Lawson Milk Co. representative has obtained an application for a city milk permit, indicating the company will open three stores here handling both dairy and grocery products.

The board took no action following a long discussion with Mr. and Mrs. W. Leland Thompson and their counsel, Atty. Donald D. Shay, concerning stagnant water in Columbian Park.

However, it pointed out a health hazard still exists on the property and that it is up to the Thompsons to seek a remedy.

Thompson told the board he feels recent criticism has been unfair since construction of a ditch has permitted water to flow from the adjoining property of Michael Pusateri onto his land.

He also exhibited photographs of the area to explain his points.

The board indicated that it believes it is up to the two property owners to settle the argument between themselves but it is Thompson's responsibility to abate the hazard.

Smith reported he made 122 inspections and investigations in the last month and Miss Selma Ladzinske, public health nurse, listed 138 nursing visits.

Mrs. Luella Bevan, registrar of vital statistics, reported 49 male and 41 female births in the period between April 16 and May 21. Deaths included 23 adult males, 14 adult females and two children.

contest" pleas in writing, asking the court for clemency.

The indictment of forgery dismissed by the court accused Rosenshine of forging the signatures of James B. Brown Jr., and his wife, Shirley Ann Brown, to a property contract on May 20, 1963.

Rosenshine's first trial will be June 17 on Indictment No. 140, alleging he stole $3,621.79 from Mary B. Kostka on July 16, 1963.

The second trial will be June 18 on a charge of grand larceny of $1,000 from Francis Pierce Oct. 2, 1961.

A third trial is slated for June 19 on a charge of grand larceny of $350 from Pierce on May 22, 1962.

The five other trials will be June 22-26, on charges of grand larceny from Hepps.

Rosenshine was suspended from practicing law by Circuit Court after he pleaded no contest to a malpractice complaint filed in connection with the other charges.

'Strip' Clubs Acquire Land

Pecora and Domenic Caputo were charged with being operators or "doorkeepers" at a gambling place.

They waived hearing before Squire Thomas Bellanco in Weirton; the former was fined $100 and costs and the latter $50 each. Atty. Frank A. Pietranton of Weirton signed a waiver in behalf of Chuck Teemer, authorizing the state police to destroy the $20,000 worth of racket equipment seized in the raid.

After the acquittals in U.S. Court at Wheeling, Teemer declared publicly he was through with racketeering and was going to quit Hancock County.

INSTEAD, he opened the Red Dog at a new location in The Strip.

It flourished without official interference until two months ago when the decision in the Bass case was handed down and the place was closed voluntarily.

All equipment was moved from the Red Dog to the shuttered Club 30 across the highway in The Strip. Only the restaurant remained open.

The 72 employes of the Red Dog were told the owners refused to run the risk of violating the new federal code on interstate racketeering by continuing to operate with out-of-state personnel.

They were told that if the Red Dog reopens it will be with gamblers who can prove legal residence of at least one year in West Virginia.

THE RED DOG, according to incorporation records filed July 1, 1961, in the Hancock County Courthouse, was first operated by the so-called L. B. Corp.—named apparently after Lillian Bahm. The building and the 0.997-acre tract were sold to Chuck Teemer June 29, 1963, and the corporation was dissolved.

The deed transfer, however, was not filed for court record until April 28, 1964. The deed was signed by Joseph Pecora, president of the corporation. The other incorporators were listed as Vincent Pecora and Mrs. Bahm. Mrs. Bahm listed her address as Chester R. D. 1, and the brothers at Rt. 30, Chester.

STARTING capital was listed at $30,000 with Mrs. Bahm having 298 shares of $100 each and the Pecora brothers one share each.

The Red Dog property adjoins a 5-acre tract which was purchased last year by Teemer. It stretches in a rectangular position behind the Red Dog.

Club 30: No personal property assessment; real estate assessment, $40,000; tax, $1,105.60, paid by Mrs. Bahm.

JOCKEY CLUB: Personal property assessed at $15,000 and taxed at $414.60; real estate assessed at $20,000 and taxed at $552.80. Art Lewis listed as owner.

Red Dog: Personal property assessed at $3,000 and taxed at $82.92; real estate assessed at $16,000 and taxed at $248.76. Teemer was listed as the owner.

Club 30 had been listed last year with a personal property assessment of $3,000, but the assessor had crossed it out on the record books as "erroneous."

seemed quite possible the Senate would take many, many months to act on tax legislation. Johnson broke the logjam by undercutting opposition with a much-publicized economy in government program.

Many Americans laughed when the President dramatized his pinch-penny proclivities by dousing lights in the White House. However, he set an example that is hitting home—evidenced by the recent move to substitute hydrogen for helium in weather balloons. The $14,000 saved by the Weather Bureau in this fashion won't pay off the national debt, but it's a start, and it has helped win Johnson applause from critics of big government spending.

Johnson repeatedly proclaims his desire to be "president of all the people." And, in six months, he has worked feverishly at selling himself—and with some apparent success.

A few months ago, street crowds that turned out for Johnson were modest in size and restrained in their applause. But recently when Johnson visited 13 states in 13 days, his receptions everywhere bordered on the triumphal.

Johnson rarely makes a speech without talking about civil rights and poverty. And in recent weeks, he has added medical care for the aged to his catalog of items he plugs with drumbeat persistence.

Street Oiling Project Will Begin On Monday

The street department still expects to begin work Monday —weather permitting — on oiling unsurfaced streets as a summer dust-control measure, Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said today.

The Do-Mar Road Oil Co. of Lisbon, which holds a contract to furnish up to 20,000 gallons of the material, will bring the oil from Cleveland to East Liverpool in tank truck lots of 5,000 to 7,000 gallons, the director said. City income tax funds will cover the cost.

Vodrey said many householders have complained to him that the 1963 street oiling project was completed much earlier than this year's program. Actually, the contract for the oil in the 1963 program was not let until June 27, according to city records, he said.

But Roach's illness forced postponement of start of the recounts until Tuesday morning at 9, Mrs. Mary Stewart, county clerk, reported.

Two Weirton residents have been hired as night guards at the Courthouse until the recounts have been completed, apparently to watch over the ballot cans stored in the downstairs.

Commissioner Graham picked Frank Pinion, while Commissioner Finley chose Daniel Tingler, identified as his father-in-law. There was no announcement on their compensation.

City Driver Pays $27 For Old Parking Tags

James L. Meighen, 734 Laura Ave., was fined $20 and costs of $7.50 today in Municipal Court on a charge he ignored six parking citations.

Meighen pleaded guilty before Judge Samuel L. Chertoff on an affidavit alleging specifically that he failed to pay the penalty for a tag issued uly 6, 1963, for overtime parking on Broadway. Attached to the affidavit were five more tags which he allegedly ignored.

The charge was signed by "Meter Maid" Pauline Nelson. The judge applied the court's standard penalty — a fine of $10 plus $7.50 costs on the first charge and $2 for each additional ticket.

Garbage Unit Project Aired

Further discussion on acquiring a garbage disposal unit for Hancock County was held by the County Planning Commission Thursday night in the Courthouse.

Joseph Bendot, co - chairman reported on operations of an incinerator-type disposal unit, and Norman Ferrari, president, discussed a new chemical process for garbage disposal.

Ferrari asked Bendot to seek co-operation of Weirton industrial plants for the project.

Oliver Johnson, secretary, said the State Road Commission has until August to begin its study of transportation problems in this area.

The commission agreed to cancel its meetings in June and August. Next meeting is July 20 at 7:30 p. m.

Health Board Acts To Fill Sanitary Post

The Board of Health Thursday night decided to ask the Municipal Civil Service Commission to furnish a list of names for appointment as a sanitary policeman.

The board cited the increased work load and the illness of Health Commissioner Septimus Cook, who also has been serving as an inspector.

With its decision to enforce the city milk ordinance immediately, the board pointed out the ordinance provides not only for payment of fees, but for inspection of the farm of each producer who furnishes milk for a dairy.

At present, only Gene Smith, sanitary policeman, is available for inspections of the farms but also for other inspections and investigation of complaints.

Cook, confined to a St. Petersburg (Fla.) hospital after becoming ill on vacation, was granted an extension of his vacation time pending his release by his physician.

The board also was advised a Lawson Milk Co. representative has obtained an application for a city milk permit, indicating the company will open three stores here handling both dairy and grocery products.

The board took no action following a long discussion with Mr. and Mrs. W. Leland Thompson and their counsel, Atty. Donald D. Shay, concerning stagnant water in Columbian Park.

However, it pointed out a health hazard still exists on the property and that it is up to the Thompsons to seek a remedy.

Thompson told the board he feels recent criticism has been unfair since construction of a ditch has permitted water to flow from the adjoining property of Michael Pusateri onto his land.

He also exhibited photographs of the area to explain his points.

The board indicated that it believes it is up to the two property owners to settle the argument between themselves but it is Thompson's responsibility to abate the hazard.

Smith reported he made 122 inspections and investigations in the last month and Miss Selma Ladzinske, public health nurse, listed 138 nursing visits.

Mrs. Luella Bevan, registrar of vital statistics, reported 49 male and 41 female births in the period between April 16 and May 21. Deaths included 23 adult males, 14 adult females and two children.

contest" pleas in writing, asking the court for clemency.

The indictment of forgery dismissed by the court accused Rosenshine of forging the signatures of James B. Brown Jr., and his wife, Shirley Ann Brown, to a property contract on May 20, 1963.

Rosenshine's first trial will be June 17 on Indictment No. 140, alleging he stole $3,621.79 from Mary B. Kostka on July 16, 1963.

The second trial will be June 18 on a charge of grand larceny of $1,000 from Francis Pierce Oct. 2, 1961.

A third trial is slated for June 19 on a charge of grand larceny of $350 from Pierce on May 22, 1962.

The five other trials will be June 22-26, on charges of grand larceny from Hepps.

Rosenshine was suspended from practicing law by Circuit Court after he pleaded no contest to a malpractice complaint filed in connection with the other charges.

'Strip' Clubs Acquire Land

Pecora and Domenic Caputo were charged with being operators or "doorkeepers" at a gambling place.

They waived hearing before Squire Thomas Bellanco in Weirton; the former was fined $100 and costs and the latter $50 each. Atty. Frank A. Pietranton of Weirton signed a waiver in behalf of Chuck Teemer, authorizing the state police to destroy the $20,000 worth of racket equipment seized in the raid.

After the acquittals in U.S. Court at Wheeling, Teemer declared publicly he was through with racketeering and was going to quit Hancock County.

INSTEAD, he opened the Red Dog at a new location in The Strip.

It flourished without official interference until two months ago when the decision in the Bass case was handed down and the place was closed voluntarily.

All equipment was moved from the Red Dog to the shuttered Club 30 across the highway in The Strip. Only the restaurant remained open.

The 72 employes of the Red Dog were told the owners refused to run the risk of violating the new federal code on interstate racketeering by continuing to operate with out-of-state personnel.

They were told that if the Red Dog reopens it will be with gamblers who can prove legal residence of at least one year in West Virginia.

THE RED DOG, according to incorporation records filed July 1, 1961, in the Hancock County Courthouse, was first operated by the so-called L. B. Corp.—named apparently after Lillian Bahm. The building and the 0.997-acre tract were sold to Chuck Teemer June 29, 1963, and the corporation was dissolved.

The deed transfer, however, was not filed for court record until April 28, 1964. The deed was signed by Joseph Pecora, president of the corporation. The other incorporators were listed as Vincent Pecora and Mrs. Bahm. Mrs. Bahm listed her address as Chester R. D. 1, and the brothers at Rt. 30, Chester.

STARTING capital was listed at $30,000 with Mrs. Bahm having 298 shares of $100 each and the Pecora brothers one share each.

The Red Dog property adjoins a 5-acre tract which was purchased last year by Teemer. It stretches in a rectangular position behind the Red Dog.

Club 30: No personal property assessment; real estate assessment, $40,000; tax, $1,105.60, paid by Mrs. Bahm.

JOCKEY CLUB: Personal property assessed at $15,000 and taxed at $414.60; real estate assessed at $20,000 and taxed at $552.80. Art Lewis listed as owner.

Red Dog: Personal property assessed at $3,000 and taxed at $82.92; real estate assessed at $16,000 and taxed at $248.76. Teemer was listed as the owner.

Club 30 had been listed last year with a personal property assessment of $3,000, but the assessor had crossed it out on the record books as "erroneous."

East Ohio Gas Rests Its Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — East Ohio Gas Co. has rested its case in its $35 million rate increase request and it may have marked an end to testimony in one of the longest hearings on record in the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

Attorneys for the cities opposing the increase want to ask the head of East Ohio's rate department, Francis Wright, some more questions about current wholesale gas purchase costs.

Warn Argentina Head

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Labor leaders warned today that sit-in strikes will be stepped up until President Arturo Illia's government heeds demands for a minimum wage fixed by law.

The 13 original colonies of America were Connecticut, Delaware, Georgia, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New Hampshire, New York, North and South Carolina, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, and Virginia.

Johnson

seemed quite possible the Senate would take many, many months to act on tax legislation. Johnson broke the logjam by undercutting opposition with a much-publicized economy in government program.

Many Americans laughed when the President dramatized his pinch-penny proclivities by dousing lights in the White House. However, he set an example that is hitting home—evidenced by the recent move to substitute hydrogen for helium in weather balloons. The $14,000 saved by the Weather Bureau in this fashion won't pay off the national debt, but it's a start, and it has helped win Johnson applause from critics of big government spending.

Johnson repeatedly proclaims his desire to be "president of all the people." And, in six months, he has worked feverishly at selling himself—and with some apparent success.

A few months ago, street crowds that turned out for Johnson were modest in size and restrained in their applause. But recently when Johnson visited 13 states in 13 days, his receptions everywhere bordered on the triumphal.

Johnson rarely makes a speech without talking about civil rights and poverty. And in recent weeks, he has added medical care for the aged to his catalog of items he plugs with drumbeat persistence.

The Yanks Aren't Leaving

Adlai E. Stevenson has told the Commies the Yanks aren't leaving Southeast Asia.

The Yanks won't be leaving any of the places where the United States feels a strong commitment is in U.S. interest.

This is the core of U.S. foreign policy. When the chips are down, the Yanks will dig in.

The United States will intervene and hold fast wherever it feels its interests must be protected. It will do this against the inclination of many of its citizens. It will do it in spite of strong doubts within its own official "establishment."

If necessary, it will do it even in the face of gnawing doubts about the legality of what it is doing, as it did about Lebanon in 1958. And sometimes it will rationalize what it has done after the event, as it did in the instance of the Korean "police action" and its hands-off declaration protecting Quemoy and Matsu.

But as reaffirmed by Ambassador Stevenson for the benefit of the United Nations Security Council, this government's stand against aggression is absolute and long-lasting.

THIS IS THE true significance of the U.S. commitment to the United Nations, which is an integral part of U.S. foreign policy. The United Nations provides international legal sanction for what otherwise could be called — and sometimes has been called — military aggression.

In Southeast Asia so far, the United Nations has not been involved. The United States, which has gone in alone, intends to involve it without further delay and plainly is hoping intention will be favored by a new circumstance — the rift between the Chinese People's Republic and the Soviet Union.

Communist aggression in Viet Nam, Laos, Cambodia and the threat of aggression in the East Indies, the Philippines, Siam, Burma and India both come from Red China, which is not in the U.N. Security Council.

The Soviet Union, however, is in the United Nations.

The threat of a Communist takeover of strategically important territory in Southeast Asia is a chance to ally itself with governments that could strengthen its hand someday in the future against Chinese aggression on that long border with the Soviet Union.

RUSSIANS have no reason not to take the United States at its word when it says it will not leave Viet Nam.

The United States is still in Korea.

It is still in Berlin and West Germany.

It is still standing by its guns in NATO.

And it is standing by its commitment to the United Nations, which outlawed military aggression as an instrument of national policy.

Watch now for the Kremlin to come out strongly against Chinese aggression in Southeast Asia.

Century Of Sinus

The Ohio Valley area, despite its humidity which is often the dispair of sinus sufferers, has had its share of nonagenarians and centenarians.

Across the nation, there are as many theories on how to be a 100 as there are people who achieve the century mark. Most agree on the life-preserving values of the right foods, rest and moderation, but the oldsters generally are divided on the use of alcohol and tobacco.

Some attribute longevity to daily snorts and puffing on a pipe; others claim their life span resulted from total abstinence.

A recent opinion from Dr. Robert Samp of the University of Wisconsin, based on a survey of almost 30,000 Americans who reached 100, offers a more scientific proposal.

The majority of the 100-plus men and women maintained an adjustment to whatever came along in life—"rolling with the punch."

In addition to moderation, Dr. White said a person's life span depends on such attitudes, along with environment and heredity.

So even sinus sufferers—with the right attitude, environment and family background—can live to 100.

But is that a happy thought?

Letter From Max

By Martin Miller

Dear Truman Twill:

With the haying season coming upon us, it is customary to look backward to those wonderful days when we were barefoot boys on the farm—or near the farm.

If we wanted to, we could go barefoot on a farm again. Now don't tell me you have been doing it every summer!

As for making hay, you remember how it was. Our family did not have a farm, but there was one right next door, where we used to play and "work" occasionally.

At haying time, the farmer would get help from the neighbors and a few of us kids would be allowed to be hay-packers on the wagon and in the mow.

As soon as a few forkfuls of hay had been tossed onto the rack on the wagon, we would clamber aboard to help pack it down. We could get on the wagon by climbing the framework in the back or up a rung or two on the ladder in front.

We couldn't get up on the sides because they were too high for us and the hay did not provide a safe grip.

THE FARMER sometimes had an unmatched team of one brown horse and one gray horse, of different sizes, but they seemed to pull well together.

In the early stages of loading the wagon, it sometimes was more fun to jump around on the hay packing it down because it was not as likely to slip over the side as later on when it got higher, and if we fell off the wagon in the early loading it was not so far to the ground.

Some of the "young bucks" on the ground with the forks would see who could pitch the biggest forkful onto the wagon. This sometimes bothered the fellow on the hay so it would not slip off.

The "young bucks" often had to stop to catch their breath after such extra effort. Meantime, the older farmer kept up a steady pace and wound up pitching more hay than any of them.

As the hay rose higher and higher on the wagon it became more precarious for us on top of the load, but there were compensations. We could look down on the sweating men on the ground and tell them where to pitch the hay—and the sky seemed closer, as though we could grab a handful of blue or a hunk of white floating by.

WHEN THE wagon hit rough spots, the load would rock and shake as it wanted to knock us off our perch. But that was the place to be!

Oh yes, thistles were always a hidden hazard for us youngsters, not only because we were barefoot but because we rolled around in the hay. The men wore shoes and mostly handled the stuff at a distance of a fork-handle length. The stubble was never comfortable to walk on with bare feet; I remember that, too.

Anyway, it was great fun to make hay when we were young. Some of the men would look at us strangely, but we would look back at them just as strangely and wonder what was wrong with them. We know now, don't we?

You made any hay lately, Twill? Or are you mostly hitting it these days?

Faithfull yours,
MAX

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: When nations ease their strained relationships, my dictionary says it's called a "detente."

We don't use this word much because we've rarely had to use it. But your aunt and I keep running across it lately. That's why I looked it up.

I never heard "detente" used about Korea when Dwight Eisenhower promised to rescue us from the "police action," but that's what we did. We had a detente. We and the Chinese People's Republic took each other off the hook. We agreed to an indefinite truce in a war that had been bleeding both sides to death.

This comes to mind while listening to buster-bluster statements about what we are going to do in South Viet Nam, Laos, Cambodia and a lot of other places I have trouble locating on the map. We are "eyeball-to-eyeball," as the Kennedyites used to say, with both sides looking for a way to break the tension.

WE KEEP running across that McNamara fellow on TV and in our favorite newspaper telling how our Viet Nam effort is going to be beefed up and it will be a long war because it is a war to win the confidence of people and this takes a long time, etc. Then we remember how things were in Korea and what happened there and get to wondering how long it is going to be until the clamor starts to extricate us from Asia again.

Gen. Eisenhower's 1952 promise to bail us out if he was elected was the clincher in his campaign. Unless we are using the wrong calendar here at the Corners, this is another presidential campaign year. Who will be first to come to grips with the situation this time?

Thank you for sending us the inquiry from the reader who wanted to know why you publish my letters. I am wondering how you intend to answer his question.

The only explanation I can think of is that you think it's like letting someone else read your mail. My letters have nothing but curiosity value. I am not an authority. Nothing exciting happens to your aunt and me. We're not big shots. We have no important connections.

IF IT WEREN'T for you, no one ever would know about us. We'd be what we've always been—two ordinary old duffers who pay taxes, exercise the right to vote and cherish the right to say whatever comes to their minds.

Or is this the reason for paying attention to us? The fact we're samples of the ordinary duffers who are the warp and woof of America?

Call me Warp. Call your Aunt Effie Woof. The names suit us.

And give our regards to all the ordinary young duffers in your household.

It Takes A Lot To Convince Some People

Hoffa Aide Accused Of Fraud

By Victor Riesel

There is a startling letter in the possession of the Justice Department which will amaze the nation if it is made public.

Victor Riesel

It is written on the stationery of Puerto Rican Teamsters Local 901 over the signature of Secretary-Treasurer Frank Chavez — a Californian whom Jim Hoffa transplanted to the Caribbean island to direct a multi-million dollar organizing drive.

There have been blood-slippery sidewalks where the Teamsters have picketed on the usually peaceful island and Chavez has boasted of his runins with the Puerto Rican police department's internal security division. This close lieutenant of Hoffa was picked up in '61 on charges of attempted murder, also on charges of carrying firearms.

Now the 37-year-old Teamsters' organizer — whose language would embarrass old sailors in a waterfront crimp house — also has run smack into trouble with the federal government.

Chavez has been accused by the Justice Department of stealing from nothing less than the International Brotherhood of Teamsters' national treasury. He and three others have been indicted on charges of fraudulently taking over $150,000.

Chavez and company were able to do this by faking applications submitted to the national Teamsters' office for strike relief, according to the indictment.

THE GOVERNMENT accusations indicate that Chavez ran ghost strikes with ghost pickets and then asked for strike relief for the wraiths. One strike, for example, against Gonzalez Chemical Industries actually ended on Aug. 18, 1960. But, according to the Justice Department, Chavez and his band reported to Teamsters national secretary-treasurer John English that the stoppage ran until Feb. 26, 1961.

Thus, the government charges, they were able to collect strike relief benefits on a non-existent strike for non-existent strikers for more than six months. The union's strike benefit rate is $25 a week after the first four weeks.

Six strikes altogether were involved in this alleged fraud which ran over a period of three years, the government states.

Where there actually was a strike, the indictment alleges, Chavez and the three others simply padded the number of strikers who were eligible for benefits. In this alleged effort to defraud the national union the Chavez group added from 15 to 20 names to the various strike relief lists. Thus at the rate of $25 a week the take could come to $500 a week for just one strike.

THERE WERE legitimate payments which brought the total strike benefits up to more than $500,000 in the three years. The government alleges, therefore, that about 30 per cent of this was taken by the Chavez group. These charges, though not publicized on the U. S. "mainland," have embarrassed the Teamsters' national office. The government is saying, in effect, that the $150,000 was paid without effective checks on the claims of its Puerto Rican area director.

The government charges that Chavez was able to defraud the national headquarters fund — which pays out well over $2 million a year in such benefits across the U. S. — 21 times. Each effort has been turned into an individual count punishable by five years imprisonment and a $1,000 fine — or 105 years in a federal penitentiary if the accused are found guilty on each count.

NONE OF THIS has fazed Chavez, who has been accused of earlier attempting to kill a truck driver by tossing a "Molotov cocktail" into the truck cab. Fortunately it did not explode in time. His disdain for the authorities may come from the fact that he reports directly to his chief, Jim Hoffa.

During the McClellan committee rackets investigations, probers found a letter on the stationery of Local 901, headquartered in Santurce, in which Chavez wrote:

"The internal security division of Puerto Rico has paid me three visits after I respectfully refused a written invitation to appear at their offices. It is brutal, some of the questions they asked. For example, among others: (a) What are my intentions in Puerto Rico? (b) What are my political affiliations?

"These fellows don't have a sense of humor. They reacted very violently when I answered in this way: (a) That my intentions were to give them a hosing. (b) That Stalin was my deceased grandfather."

Now that a Washington, D.C., grand jury has indicted Chavez, he may lose his sense of humor too.

We'll see when he comes up for trial shortly. Then there is a matter of the $150,000 which he, or some one in the organization, will have to repay if his group is found guilty. That should send him into hysterics.

Democrats In Danger

By David Lawrence

Wallace Support Jeopardizes House Seats

Control of the House of Representatives by the Democratic party after the November election suddenly has been placed in doubt as a result of the surprisingly large percentage of the vote obtained by Gov. George Wallace of Alabama in the Maryland presidential primary contest.

David Lawrence

Apparently there is a sizable voter discontent on the civil rights issue not only in Maryland but in other states in the North. This could mean a big cross-over vote away from the party in power.

It's unfortunate, of course, when a color line is drawn in politics. But the realistic truth is that, in the State of Maryland, President Johnson's "stand-in" candidate was saved from defeat only by the Negro vote. While this is of help in a primary contest, it may work to the disadvantage of the Democratic party in the final elections.

Many of the seats in the House of Representatives were won in 1962 with narrow margins by Democrats. It would take a net shift of not more than 5 per cent of the votes to bring about the defeat of a number of incumbent Democrats who support the civil rights legislation.

Maryland is not the only state where the whites apparently have used a primary-election contest, such as was held this week, to register their objection to the civil rights legislation.

IT NOW has been disclosed by the Indiana Civil Rights Commission in a formal report that the biggest protest vote on the civil rights issue in the recent state presidential-primary balloting came from "white suburbia."

The statistics just made public show that in 25 of Indiana's 92 counties Gov. Wallace got a vote above his average for the state. In Marion County, where about one-third of Indiana's 300,000 Negroes live, the Wallace vote was 30.7 per cent of the Democratic vote but in the surrounding counties in Indiana, Gov. Wallace got from 32 per cent to 45 per cent of the vote.

So the Indiana election should not have been appraised merely by pointing to the state average for Wallace as only 29.8 per cent of the total Democratic vote, any more than the true meaning of the Maryland election is revealed today by noting that Gov. Wallace got nearly 43 per cent of the vote.

Actually, the Alabaman got more than 50 per cent of the vote in many counties in Maryland and ran strong in most areas except the City of Baltimore and Montgomery and Allegany Counties.

A PROTEST vote of large proportions, moreover, in particular districts can affect many a congressional contest without reference to how a state's electoral vote may be cast.

It would be a mistake to assume that this voter discontent has reached the peak of its strength. Intrusion by the government into private business and into family life, together with the possibility that the federal government now may become more active than before in breaking down school districts or in forcing the sale of homes to Negroes in neighborhoods previously all-white, has aroused fears.

These are not necessarily erased just because the pending federal legislation itself does not contain all of the controversial restrictions which are causing so much talk throughout the country.

Again and again, defenders of the civil rights bill have declared that there is much misinformation being circulated as to what the pending bill in the Senate actually contains. Undoubtedly the comments being made in many cases have gone beyond what is actually written in the bill. This does not mean that apprehension as to what can be added later, particularly in the state and local laws, has been removed.

THE MARYLAND contest is an eye-opener to Congress. Very few members will say for publication that the results will influence their attitude in the future but the more they learn about the latest developments in their own constituences, the more they will discover that a substantial discontent has been aroused which has not been offset by any new political support.

Basically, the problem for many members of Congress has been complicated by the fact that the leaders in both the Republican and the Democratic party in the North have come out in favor of the civil rights legislation. So there has been no way offered the voter as yet to express discontent between parties.

IT'S AN INDICATION of future trends in the final election. A few months ago hardly anyone would have predicted that the governor of Alabama—whose state is a hotbed of opposition to forced desegregation — would come into the North and poll more than 40 per cent of the vote inside the Democratic party in some counties in such states as Indiana and Wisconsin and more than 50 per cent in 16 out of Maryland's 23 counties.

The current contests in the primaries are initial evidence that the United States will go through a political upheaval in the next several years as a consequence of the civil rights issue. Since it touches the home and family relationships, the neighborhood, the public schools and private business, the problem can produce an impact far more extensive than any single political issue has hitherto furnished for many a decade in American history.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

I am writing to say I wonder how many people of the East Liverpool area know this is National Salvation Army week.

It seems that much the Salvation Army does goes by unnoticed until someone needs them, and then, there they are.

It's true the Salvation Army has been here a long time (80 years) and is always busy doing good, so maybe what they do isn't news any more, but I think more people should know specifically what they are doing, and National Salvation Army week, made for this purpose, shouldn't go by unnoticed.

People know about the donuts in the first World War, they see the red trucks on the street, the band on the Diamond, and the girls in their bonnets, the red kettle at Christmas, families getting food, clothing or furniture when in need, the weekly visits to the Rest Homes and jails, the Vacation Bible School program, the camps for the underprivileged, the disaster work at fires and floods.

But there is much more—

Last year 12 girls from this area were assisted at the Salvation Army Home for unmarried mothers.

Eight parolees were helped with their paroles.

The Guard and Sunbeam program — a scouting program with a religious purpose — drew more than 40 to its program last year.

The Mother's Club has a membership of over 100 and an average weekly attendance of 45.

Twenty families have in the last few months been relocated to unfurnished homes for cheaper rent by receiving furniture.

Broken homes have been mended.

The Salvation Army here has a Sunday School second only to Youngstown in the entire Northeastern Ohio area.

Some even say they don't help transients any more, but Major William Hathorn has over 3,300 names in his file of those who have been assisted in the past five years, some a number of times, and a number of these were whole families for food, clothing, shelter and transportation.

Major Hathorn told me he has been able to cut his welfare budget while keeping even more than ever, because they know from experience and training how to make referrals, how to use public agencies, and how to avoid duplications. This is a great asset to all of us, whether we realize it or not, to know that the money we give to this agency is being used wisely.

Southern Baptists Reject Endorsement Of Integration

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) —Southern Baptists have rejected an endorsement of church integration and left the issue up to member churches.

"It is our conviction that the final solution to these problems must come on the local level," said a policy statement adopted Thursday by messengers (delegates) to the Southern Baptist Convention, largest Protestant body in the United States.

In contrast, the American (Northern) Baptist Convention was expected to approve a resolution today calling for participation in demonstrations for civil rights and support of the civil rights bill pending in the Senate.

The conventions, holding separate meetings, both planned to take up proposals opposing any change in the U.S. Constitution because of the school prayer controversy.

Both groups, together with five other Baptist denominations, join in a program celebrating their 150th anniversary today.

A block of Deep South ministers led the fight against Southern convention endorsement of churches that open their doors to Negroes, as recommended by the convention's Christian Life Commission.

The commission also proposed a pledge "to support the laws designed to guarantee the legal rights of Negroes." It would have called on Southern Baptists to "give themselves to the decisive defeat of racism."

Attacking this as possible endorsement of the civil rights bill, the Rev. James Middleton of Shreveport, La., won adoption of a substitute policy statement.

His statement said Southern Baptists "fully recognize the dignity of every human being," and added: "We would urge every Southern Baptist and every church to earnestly pray and work that peaceful Christian solutions may be found in all the racial relationships facing the world today."

The convention cannot bind its actions on member churches; it can only recommend.

C. Of C. Dinner Wednesday To Fete Top Area Graduates

The fourth annual scholarship recognition dinner of the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night at 6 at the Travelers Hotel will pay tribute to about 75 students representing the top 10 per cent of the graduating classes of four area high schools.

Arranged by the Chamber's public education committee, the dinner and program will honor prospective graduates of East Liverpool, Beaver Local, Oak Glen and South Side High Schools.

Robert E. Boyce, president, will welcome the graduates and other guests. He will present each with a "certificate of achievement" from the education committee.

The schools' principals also have been invited. The seniors will be identified by name tags and tiny replicas of their school colors.

Representing the Chamber, in addition to the education committee, will be members of the Board of Trustees and committee chairman.

Edwin Maloney is chairman of the committee in charge, which also includes School Supt. Paul Blair, Leslie Blumenthal, Samuel Brown, Donald Honicky, C. V. Hughes, Leo C. Lawrence, Dr. C. M. Mayberry, Collin Neal and J. A. Roslund.

The single "crime" for which more persons are arrested in the U. S. than any other is drunkenness. Following this is disorderly conduct, then larceny or theft, then burglary (breaking in or entering).

Applications Open To Join State Patrol

Applications are being received from area young men interested in joining the Ohio Highway Patrol, Sgt. R. J. Rizzo of the Lisbon post announced.

High school graduates between 18 and 35 may apply.

Interviews are slated Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the East Liverpool police station.

Men 21 and over can be accepted directly into the Training Academy for the next class which starts in July.

Vacancies also exist in the cadet dispatcher classification for young men 18 through 20. These men also "earn as they learn" while they work as post dispatchers until called to the academy for completion of their training.

In addition to the age requirement, applicants must have a high school education, weigh at least 160 and be at least 5-feet-9, Sgt. Rizzo said. He pointed out that applicants were previously required to weigh 165 but this requirement was lowered when studies revealed that men well qualified physically were being eliminated.

Court Dismisses Suit Involving Teachers Board

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Judge Henry L. Holden of Franklin County Common Pleas Court has dismissed a suit that sought to prevent the State Teachers Retirement Board from entering into a business agreement with a Columbus bank.

Three northern Ohio teachers contended in the suit that the agreement amounted to a loan arrangement and was not for investment purposes. Under the plan, the board would buy a new downtown office building at a price ranging from $6.7 million to $7.5 million and lease it to the Huntington National Bank.

Judge Holden said in dismissing the action that it was not filed by the proper parties. Filing the suit were Steve Serucha and Martha Rasmussen, both of Cleveland, and Dorothy Matheny of Toledo.

Voter Signup Open Again

The Columbiana County Election Board has resumed registration of East Liverpool voters following expiration of the 10 - day wait required by state law after every election, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, reminded today.

The next registration deadline falls at 9 p.m. Sept. 23. That's when the board will close enrollments for the general election Nov. 3.

The registration books were closed on March 25 in advance of the primary elections on May 5. They must remain closed until 10 days after the election.

O'Hanlon reminded that unqualified voters may register at the Election Board's office Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 4 p.m. The office also is open on Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon.

East Liverpool is the only political subdivision in Columbiana County requiring voter registration.

O'Hanlon reminded that electors must register if: You have not voted at least once in the preceding two years; you've moved since voting last, or you have changed your name by marriage or court action. A voter must have been a resident of Ohio for one year and of the county and his precinct for 40 days prior to the election.

3 Bergholz Men Given Probation

LISBON — Three Bergholz area men indicted by the January Grand Jury on charges of larceny and carrying concealed weapons were granted probation Thursday by Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard.

Paul D. Mick and Edward L. Beadnell, both 21, were placed on probation for three years and two years, respectively, but one of the probation conditions was that they serve terms in County Jail on charges of carrying brass knuckles. Mick will serve 60 days and Beadnell 30 days.

John L. Mick, 27, was fined $300 and sentenced to 90 days in County Jail for larceny of six cans of beer from Kenneth Welch, 64, formerly of East Liverpool and now a resident of the County Home. Judge Buzzard suspended the fine providing Mick pays hospital expenses of Welch, who said he was dragged when he tried to hold onto the beer Mick was attempting to steal.

Firemen said a mattress and clothing were damaged. Alex Davis, who resides in a trailer nearby, said he saw smoke emerging from the Rankin trailer. He broke open a door, pulled the mattress and clothing outside and extinguished the flames before firemen arrived.

Firemen were notified at 1:12. Mrs. Rankin was visiting her mother and the trailer was unoccupied. Firemen blamed a cigarette for the blaze.

Public Hearing Set For St. Clair Water Proposal

A public hearing on a proposal to provide water and sewer systems for St. Clair Township, including the Calcutta and Glenmoor areas, will be held Monday night at 7:30 at the Courthouse in Lisbon before Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard.

The Southeastern Water and Sewer District, created several months ago, will present plans for a water and sewer project.

David (Pete) Beatty, president of the Board of Trustees of the new district, will preside at the session in Courtroom No. 2.

The Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency has approved a $8,710 loan for preliminary planning for the area. The district also has applications pending for construction funds for the water project, under the Federal Accelerated Public Works Program.

For water service, sponsors hope to purchase its supply from East Liverpool and pipe it to a standpipe system for distribution.

Strong Gunman Makes Off With 500-Pound Safe

CLEVELAND (AP)—A gunman wearing gray work clothes took a 500-pound safe containing about $108,000 in negotiable bonds and cash from a home in the fashionable Gold Coast section on the west side.

The robber fled late Thursday after handcuffing 77-year-old Mrs. Walter J. Mueller to a piano bench in a basement recreation room of her 1½-story ranch house.

Police believe someone helped the gunman carry the heavy safe up the stairs. They said the intruder got in by posing as a telephone repairman.

Mrs. Ueller, alone in the house at the time, is the wife of 78-year-old Walter J. Mueller, owner of a downtown tire company bearing his name.

Walter Mueller, 36, of suburban Rocky River, a son, found his mother when he stopped for a visit around 5:30 p.m. He summoned police. He said the securities were negotiable Ohio Turnpike bonds.

He pointed out that applicants were previously required to weigh 165 but this requirement was lowered when studies revealed that men well qualified physically were being eliminated.

Court Dismisses Suit Involving Teachers Board

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Judge Henry L. Holden of Franklin County Common Pleas Court has dismissed a suit that sought to prevent the State Teachers Retirement Board from entering into a business agreement with a Columbus bank.

Three northern Ohio teachers contended in the suit that the agreement amounted to a loan arrangement and was not for investment purposes. Under the plan, the board would buy a new downtown office building at a price ranging from $6.7 million to $7.5 million and lease it to the Huntington National Bank.

Judge Holden said in dismissing the action that it was not filed by the proper parties. Filing the suit were Steve Serucha and Martha Rasmussen, both of Cleveland, and Dorothy Matheny of Toledo.

CLEVELAND (AP)—A gunman wearing gray work clothes took a 500-pound safe containing about $108,000 in negotiable bonds and cash from a home in the fashionable Gold Coast section on the west side.

The robber fled late Thursday after handcuffing 77-year-old Mrs. Walter J. Mueller to a piano bench in a basement recreation room of her 1½-story ranch house.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Six months ago I married a West Point graduate who has made the Army his career. This is a second marriage for us both. His two sons by his first wife do not speak to him, and I'm afraid he is building an equally poor relationship with my son.

Leslie is 12, a fine student, good athlete and gets along well with people. He adored his father who died three years ago but he has accepted my second husband beautifully. When I asked Leslie how he felt about my remarrying he replied. "You need a husband and I will do my best to like him." I thought this was very good for a 12-year-old.

My husband insists that Leslie say "no, sir" and "yes, sir." Every Friday he inspects the boy's closet, drawers and clothing, and gives him demerits if everything isn't perfect. He also gives demerits for poor posture.

I know discipline is important but my husband is so stern with the boy I'm afraid there will be no affection—only fear. Please comment.—M.D.G.

Dear M.D.G.: Discipline IS important, but it must be balanced with justice and love. A cold, commanding father may get perfection, but unless he gives warmth as well as orders his son will hate him. Apparently your husband didn't learn much from his earlier failures as a father.

Suggest that he cut out the "no, sir" and "yes, sir" before the boy gets an "ul-sir." He needs some outside help in understanding his role as a father.

Third Degree

Dear Ann: I've been going with a man for several months. We are not children. I'm 29 and Donald is 34. He was married once but it didn't work out.

Last night for the first time Donald talked to me seriously about marriage. He pulled a slip of paper from his pocket and proceeded to ask me some questions. Here they are:

1. Have you had your appendix out?
2. Are your teeth in good condition?
3. Do you have any outstanding debts?
4. Do you have any money saved?

I asked him what the third degree was all about. He said his first wife clipped him for an appendectomy, $500 worth of dentistry and $250 in back bills for the first year they were married. He doesn't want to get mixed up in anything like that again.

What do you think about a man who would ask such questions?—FLOORED.

Dear Floored: I think you don't need a goof like this for a husband. Tell him to run an ad.

Workers And Drones

Dear Ann: I'm an active member of a very fine organization. I can name 30 women who wish to be identified as "hard-working members" when they do nothing but pay dues.

Some of these individuals don't attend more than two or three meetings a year. They refuse to serve on committees. Is this fair? What can be done to remedy the situation?—OLD FAITHFUL.

Dear Old Faithful: Every organization has it's dedicated members and hard-working wheelhorses. They are few in number, noble in spirit and fantastically energetic.

And then there are the other 97 per cent. They are joiners and not doers. So accept the fact and use their dues to advance the good work of the organization.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ontario Premiuer John Robarts, who sent out the invitations Thursday, said Ontario is taking the initiative because its borders stretch the full length of the northern shores of the Great Lakes.

He said Ontario is greatly concerned with "the internal problems of our own province arising from lowering water tables and drought," and added that the 10 states and provinces should pool their ideas to see what action can be taken about it both now and for the future.

Lausche Urges U.S. To Win Viet War Or Get Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, says if the United States intends to stay in Viet Nam, its purpose should be to bring the war to a successful end. "If we don't have such intentions, we ought to consider getting out, he added.

Ohio's senior senator told newsmen that the United States made a mistake in Laos "in believing the Communists would work together in the neutralization of Laos. Now we are paying for the mistake."

Lausche was among those members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee who received a closed-door briefing from Secretary of State Dean Rusk Thursday on the situation in Laos, Viet Nam and Cambodia.

Cleveland's Mayor Rejects Port Unit Bid

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mayor Ralph S. Locher has rejected a proposal by the Cuyahoga County Commissioners to establish a county port authority. But City Council President James V. Stanton called the idea "sound" and said it should be fully explored.

In rejecting the idea Thursday, Mayor Locher said: "I will not liquidate one of our greatest assets. Instead of wasting our energies and time in setting up a new level and structure of government, at additional cost to the taxpayers of Cleveland, everybody should join hands in promoting the rapidly growing Port of Cleveland."

District dams locked through 1,817 river tows in the first four months of 1964, a gain of 21.8 per cent from the 1,492 shown at the same time last year. The locks handled 497 tows in April, a boost of 19.2 per cent from the 417 shown in March.

Love Is Still Around The Corner, Says Vera

What television needs is some good love stories, Vera Miles believes. She is beginning a one - woman campaign on the subject.

Hal Humphrey

"The men running TV seem to think love stories are passe. When they do put a girl in a story today, she has to be what they call a swinger," Vera states. "Either a swinger or a psychopath. I'm so sick of playing in these psychological things. I seem to be the cancer type this season, or when they don't have me dying of cancer, then it's some kind of mental derangement."

-:-

THE STATELY and beautiful Vera (she was "Miss Kansas" in 1949) constantly is being called by producers of medical series, dating back to the days of "Medic" (circa 1954) when she played a girl with breast cancer.

She was the guest star in the first "Eleventh Hour" two seasons ago and, besides being mentally deranged, Vera was a murderess.

"I finally got to do a love story on another 'Eleventh Hour,'" and I'm sure it's the only one they ever did. Wendell Corey and I were in love, but of course I only had six months to live and died right on schedule.

"I NOTICED they let Dr. Kildare fall in love with Yvette Mimieux, and she lasted for two episodes, but then had to die, too. I did escape dying in the first 'Fugitive' episode, and David Janssen fell in love with me, but since he always leaves town, it wasn't necessary to kill me off."

Next Friday, Vera again manages to remain in one piece in a Bob Hope adaptation of Carson McCullers' "The Sojourner" with Efrem Zimbalist Jr. and Howard Duff. It's a love story of sorts, but also has its psychological overtones.

"I think it's fear which prevents love stories being done on TV," Vera opines. "Of course, when I complain to the producers, they say the writers aren't writing them. Ask the writers, though, and their answer is that the producers don't want love stories."

WHAT BUGS VERA and most American actresses is the bombardment of foreign love films fired over here from European movie producers. And they go home with "Oscars" and rave reviews, and the public exclaims over how "European movies seem better than ours."

"I believe one trouble with our producers," Vera explains, "is not knowing how to make a love story. Love in our country now seems to be just sex, and usually it's dirty.

"Women seem to have no identity or purpose as women here in our country. Jackie Kennedy and Eleanor Roosevelt have been candidates for American women to emulate, but there haven't been many more in the past two decades.

"I STILL HAVE people ask me if my children are hurt by my having a career. Maybe that's why the love stories we do have are usually soap opera. Well, I don't happen to think they have to be soap opera.

"We used to have marvelous love stories coming out of Hollywood. Remember the era when Carole Lombard was acting in them and Ernst Lubitsch was directing?

"But now you say 'love story' to people, and they don't know what you mean. If something isn't done about it soon, I'm going to write my own love stories," Vera threatens.

She should find the market wide open.

Teachers' Group Lists $131 Spent In Backing Levy

The Southern Local Teachers' Association spent $131.30 in support of an 8.8-mill operating levy that was rejected by the school district's voters at the primary election May 5, according to a sworn statement of campaign expenditures on file today with the County Election Board.

The report was filed by Jack Baker, executive head of the school district, as chairman of the teachers' association.

Meanwhile, the Board of Education of the Columbiana Village School District reported it spent $19.83 in support of a 3-mill levy which was approved.

Robert Bell of Steubenville reported he spent nothing in an unopposed bid for 18th District delegate to the Republican National Convention. Bell also is 18th District state central committeeman of his party.

June 19 at 4 p. m. is the deadline for the reports, required of all candidates, as well as from individuals and committees that supported or opposed any candidate or issue.

Keep In Trim

Progress Report Shows Good News

A promise, given by a triumphant dieter, carried such conviction that a spark of hope was blown into a blaze. "You can slim down, too, and it is so well worth it." On reading these heartening words, a homemaker, who had felt hopelessly trapped in 120 pounds of excess fat, suddenly decided: "If she can do it, I can too."

Ida Jean Kain

In early May this column carried the story of the young homemaker whose husband had reluctantly asked for a divorce. Even this threat failed to motivate the unhappy wife to take action. But when she read that another woman about her same age had the courage to move a mountain of fat and find happiness, she knew she could do it too. A second letter has just arrived. The news is good.

"WHEN I LAST wrote you I was down to 212. Almost a month has passed and I am now down to 202 pounds. It is hard to believe that I have come this far. Every time I look at the graph on my kitchen wall my spirits soar.

"This week I started to wash and iron all the summer clothes. I know it's a little early, but I just couldn't wait to see what I could and couldn't wear. All of my size 20½ dresses that have been packed away for years now fit me fine. When I put on last year's shorts, size 44, they slipped down to my hips. I have a large amount of sewing to do, but it's going to be a happy job.

"We are making a carport in the backyard, so one day just for fun I picked up two stones and walked around the yard. They each weigh 15 pounds. When I put down that 30-pound load, I was out of breath. Now I know why I was always so tired when I carried around the 38 pounds I had lost.

"Since I don't have much time to exercise during the day, I joined the Y and on Monday and Friday nights I swim. I swim across the pool until I am tired, then I hold onto the side of the pool and kick my legs, twist and turn and also make circles with my arms against the resistance of the water.

"My doctor is most pleased with my progress. Since the second week on his protective diet I have not felt that I am dieting or eating less than I need.

"LIFE IS slowly changing for me. . .and all for the better. There have been days when I was tempted by candy (my biggest downfall), but I would read your column and look at the chart on the wall.

"I get encouragement from so many things . . . in the movies I can fit into the seats better. I can walk across the kitchen floor without the dishes rattling. At night the mattress doesn't tilt. . .

"This past Saturday my husband said to me: 'Gee, honey, I know we're going to have a wonderful summer this year!' I know it too, for there will be a new me." Hail to your courage!

Pays Visit To Kentucky

First Lady Makes Appeal For Anti-Poverty Plan

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Lady Bird Johnson visited in eastern Kentucky with everyone from a struggling mountain farmer to youngsters in a one-room schoolhouse as she pleaded to help those who live "on the outskirts of poverty."

She was folksy; frankly political and staunchly antipoverty on a rugged, day-long tour in this section of Appalachia on Thursday.

Heading home today to rest, she said her "woman's look" at problems of this area had been a wonderful experience.

Thousands got to see and applaud the President's wife. And she applauded Kentucky for the steps she saw being taken to fight poverty and illiteracy.

The First Lady waded in to answer Republican critics who chided the Johnsons about "deplorable poverty" they said they found among tenant families on her Alabama acres.

She gave her answer in a speech before an audience of 1,000 at a dinner of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs in Lexington Thursday night.

Mrs. Johnson said she was glad some people were "suddenly worried" about her tenant farmers because "I've been worried about them for years.

"If there had been a poverty bill 30 years ago, those former cotton farmers would have been retrained to a new skill, rather than remaining on in an economy that time has passed by.

"The lasting answer to wiping out poverty in this country is not just charity," she said, "but a full-scale program to provide job opportunities for all underprivileged families and educational opportunity for their children."

Her speech, a plea for backing Johnson's war on poverty, was greeted with a standing ovation. It climaxed Mrs. Johnson's day, which closely paralleled a trip the late Eleanor Roosevelt made 26 years ago, when she was first lady.

Mrs. Johnson's biggest crowd gathered at the new Breathitt County Coliseum, a combination gymnasium for the high school and civic meeting place, which she dedicated, as Mrs. Roosevelt dedicated a WPA-built gym in 1938.

The insect making the loudest noise is the male cicada, sometimes erroneously referred to as the locust. Its screech can often be heard across country for a quarter of a mile.

EMOTIONAL EFFECTS OF ADOPTION

Q. We plan to adopt a 6-month-old baby who has been temporarily cared for by another couple. Would a child this age be upset by a change of "parents"?

A. Most authorities are of the opinion that an adopted child does not necessarily undergo emotional disturbance through a change of parents at a very early age. There is probably very little risk up to 6 months of age, provided, of course, the change is a satisfactory one. The very young child seems prepared to accept anyone as a mother figure who will provide adequately for its needs and will give it the loving care required for healthy mental and physical development. From about 6 months upward, however, by which time the child has begun to identify the mother figure, there may be an ever-increasing risk of difficulty in acceptance of a replacement parent.

NAIL GROWTH

Q. Do the fingernails grow faster in summer than in winter months?

A. We know of only one long-term study of nail growth: that of a physician who measured and recorded growth of his left thumbnail at monthly intervals for 20 years. There were no seasonal changes in rate of growth. However, a sharp decline in nail growth rate began at age 49, and seemed to continue with advancing age.

'Chairman Of Board' For Year

Negro Elected Moderator By U.P. General Assembly

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—Edler G. Hawkins nervously fingered the two silver crosses, fused and hung from a long chain around his neck.

"Yes, I'll march on the line again," he said, "if the occasion demands it. One belonging to a minority has a kind of special understanding of what happens."

His eyes glistened and he measured his words. Of the 3.3 million members of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., he is one of the 5 per cent who are Negroes; and the church's General Assembly had just elected him its moderator. For the first time, a Negro would be "chairman of the board" for a year and speak in unison with Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, the assembly's Stated Clerk and chief executive officer.

The Rev. Mr. Hawkins is 55, and in 26 years under his ministry St. Augustine Presbyterian Church in New York's Bronx has grown from nine members to more than a thousand.

His election will be more eloquent than any sermon," said J. Vernon Lloyd, an attorney from Danville, Calif., who put Hawkins in nomination and later was appointed vice moderator.

"In this measure at least," said Dr. Blake, "we have become color blind. It marks the direction in which the church intends to go."

United Presbyterian leaders are under attack from some of the Presbyteries for their part in racial demonstrations. Dr. Blake was arrested near Baltimore almost a year ago in a march on a segregated amusement park. And the Rev. Mr. Hawkins joined in demonstrations at a diner in the Bronx.

"We have a long way to go," the new moderator said, "and my first concern is to bring all the resources of our church to bear for the passage of the civil rights bill stalemated in the Senate."

The fused Celtic crosses he fingered are a talisman of another major concern. The Presbyterian Church of Scotland gave the crosses several years ago to the moderators of the three main Presbyterian branches in the United States.

Two were fused after the merger which resulted in the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. in 1958. The other is held by the moderator of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S., the dominant body in the South.

The Rev. Mr. Hawkins, elected moderator Thursday, received 465 of the 833 votes in a contest with the Rev. A. Ray Cartlidge of Erie, Pa.

The assembly continues through Thursday.

Minor Judiciary Post To Be Filled On Nov. 3 Ballots

The so-called non-partisan filing deadline on Aug. 5 apparently will affect only one office in Columbiana County, a minor judiciary post, according to Frank R. O'Hanlon, Election Board clerk.

The expiring term is held by County Judge James L. MacDonald, whose court is at Lisbon. The holdovers, elected two years ago for four-year terms, are Judge Herbert Arfman and Judge Luther Donbar. Judge MacDonald was elected to the lone two-year term at the same time.

The post pays $4,901, which makes a candidates' filing fee 24.51, O'Hanlon said. A minimum of 257 signatures is required on a nominating petition. It represents one per cent of the vote cast in the County Court District, which is comprised of the entire county aside from East Liverpool and Liverpool Township. The city and the adjoining township comprise the East Liverpool Municipal Court District.

O'Hanlon reminded prospective candidates that they must use a new form of nominating petition prescribed by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown following action of the 105th General Assembly. Forms prescribed by Brown prior to 1963 cannot be used, he warned.

Starts Water Plant

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — With a push of a button, Lima's new $3.2 - million water treatment plant went into operation Thursday. City Utilities Director Sharon D. Bresler presided at the dedication ceremonies which also included a tour of the facility. When in full operation, the plant will supply Lima with about 30 million gallons of water a day—more than double the present capacity.

6 Months Since Kennedy's Death

2.7 Million Have Visited Grave Of Late President

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the six months since his death, kings, queens, presidents and an estimated 2,745,000 persons have climbed up the gentle slope to John F. Kennedy's grave.

Now and then members of the Kennedy family slipped in among the tourists who stand at the low white picket fence that encloses the gravesite in Arlington National Cemetery.

Such a one was Sen. Edward M. Kennedy who was seen at his brother's grave one afternoon this week before he left on a trip to Europe.

The family has not selected the final design for the monument to be erected. The President's widow still is receiving suggestions, a spokesman for her said today.

The eternal flame that marks the top of the level grave is expected to be incorporated into the permanent memorial.

For now, it burns above a temporary base covered with an artificial green grass carpet—bright in the sunshine of the spring day and soft in the blue floodlights of the night.

During the winter, fresh green boughs covered the base. Each evening guards found among the boughs a few mementos tossed there—rosaries, crosses, sometimes bracelets and even dolls, probably put there by children.

But the boughs dried out too fast in the warm spring days. The military caps and insignia that had lain there since the day of burial, last Nov. 25, had rotted in the rain and snow. They, too, were removed.

The caps and insignia and every article of permanent nature, including the ribbons and cards on the floral tributes, are sent to the White House for keeping until the Kennedy Memorial Library is completed.

The enclosed area is covered with the blue-green grass that President Kennedy loved — the kind he had put in the White House garden by his office and at the Virginia country home he didn't have much time to enjoy.

Each day, the base of the flame is covered with flowers, and wreaths line the fence.

Some 15 wreath-laying ceremonies are arranged each day.

It has become a custom for visiting foreign dignitaries to pay their respects at the grave of the assassinated president.

A dramatic moment came last month when former President Romulo Betancourt of Venezuela brought his wreath of white flowers.

Mrs. Kennedy had written him a letter just before his term ended in February, saying that during his life, President Kennedy had been concerned about the security of Betancourt, who had survived five assassination attempts.

It was a moving letter. And it was a moving moment when Betancourt stretched his trembling hands over the grave. There on one hand were the scars from the burns he had received during one of the attempts on his life.

Wellsville Shoplifter Suspect's Hearing Set

Accused of shoplifting in Wellsville, a prelimnary hearing for Mary Ellen Lawson, 19, of Youngstown, was set for Thursday at 1:30 p. m. by County Judge James L. MacDonald yesterday afternoon at Lisbon.

She is charged with stealing 67 cartons of cigarettes valued at $173.83 from the Mason's Foodliner in Wellsville.

Ptl. R. E. Wellington said she allegedly was one of the accomplices with Carlton Council, who pleaded guilty to receiving stolen goods taken by Miss Lawson and another woman. They placed them in Council's car.

Unable to post $1,000 bond, she was returned to the County Jail pending the hearing.

Martins Ferry Coach Interested . . .

The latest on the coaching situation at East Liverpool High School shows 25 applications for the football and basketball jobs, according to Supt. Paul Blair.

Asked how many applicants there were in each sport, Blair said "they are about equally divided," meaning there are about a dozen each for the openings. Blair said interviews would start soon.

A surprise popped on the scene this week when we learned from our sources in Martins Ferry that Bob Wion, the highly successful football coach at Martins Ferry, said he was very much interested in coming to East Liverpool.

Wion, not only would come himself, but has sold four assistants on the idea of moving here, if the right spots are open. He plans to submit a formal application.

His record speaks for itself. He has been at Martins Ferry four years and has three undefeated seasons. In 1962, after an undefeated season, he was named head coach of the South team which defeated the North in an upset at the annual All-Star game in Canton.

We feel the welcome mat should be dusted off for a coach of this caliber.

The name of Wade Watts, a former coach at ELHS who rang up an undefeated season here in 1952 also has been rumored.

Watts has not officially applied here but in talking with the former Potter and Canton McKinley mentor, he would be interested in returning to East Liverpool.

A successful coach when it comes to won-loss seasons, Watts returned to the coaching game two years ago at Fairfield Union, a Class AA high school near Lancaster.

The school was new two years ago when Watts went in and started the football program, meeting with sudden success. His first team there compiled a 9-1 record. The record fell off to 6-4 last year for a 15-5 overall mark on two seasons.

One coach who has applied at ELHS is Howard Weyers, who had outstanding teams at East Palestine before moving to Maple Heights near Cleveland.

In three years at East Palestine, Weyers' teams won 28 and lost only two games. Maple Heights' football was at low ebb before Weyers arrived on the scene and compiled a 6-4 season for the first winning campaign in a number of years. Last season, he showed a 5-5 mark.

City Produces 2 Champions . . .

EAST LIVERPOOL'S sports scene took a turn to the good last week when a couple of championships were produced.

They came on individual performances from Glenda Simms, who wears the Ohio Women's singles crown in bowling and Curt Battistelli a half miler for the Potter track team.

Battistelli in the last two weeks has set new records for Columbiana County and the Eastern District in the half mile. He will be up against it at Columbus however where Curt will be meeting the best the state has to offer.

We know he will be giving it the old college try. Battistelli's coach, Norm Six, who is accompanying him to Columbus, has high praise for his half miler. "There is no one who works any harder than Curt. He has done this on his own and doesn't fool around at practice. He has pushed himself to the new records and is very serious about running," Six commented.

Curt was scheduled to run in the preliminaries today at 4 p. m. in an effort to qualify for Saturday's finals.

He turned in his best time of 2:00.5 for the district record at Bellaire last Saturday.

Battistelli already has been offered a partial scholarship on cross-country to Kent State but if he can give a creditable performance this weekend at Columbus, other offers may come his way. He plans to study pre-med.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

RICH ASHCROFT, the ex-South Side High great, has been assigned to Wilson of the Class A Carolina League.

Rich ran into a little bad luck early in the season when he was out of the lineup with a leg injury for over a week but is back playing regularly now.

He got off to a good start in the first week, belting an inside-the-park home run and was hitting the ball well.

Rich was signed by the Minnesota Twins in 1962.

EAST LIVERPOOL'S 1964-65 basketball schedule was completed this week with the addition of Youngstown Ursuline to the card.

School officials had to hunt quite awhile to land the 18th opponent but Ursuline will play here Dec. 29 and the Potters will go there the following season on Dec. 28.

Mays Is Captain, Could Be Manager

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "Willie Mays, as far as I'm concerned, is managerial material, said San Francisco Giants Manager Alvin Dark in naming the star center fielder as the club's field captain.

Dark wouldn't expand his comment on managerial potential yet the possibility exists that the 33-year-old Mays might eventually become the first Negro to manage in the major leagues.

In appointing Willie captain on Thursday, Dark said, "I put a lot of importance on this job."

It hasn't been filled since the present manager served as the Giants captain from 1950 until 1956 under Leo Durocher.

Mays commented, "I'm very proud to be captain." Asked about any managerial aspirations, he answered, "It's too early to think about managing. I hope I have four or five more years of playing before I think about managing."

Actually, the appointment only makes official many of the things Mays has been doing unofficially for years, primarily moving the outfielders into defensive positions.

Mays Snaps Out Of Slump With 16th And 17th HR's

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Move over Willie. Here comes Billy.

Forget it Willie. There goes Billy.

That's how fast the National League batting lead changed hands Thursday as Billy Williams of the Chicago Cubs boosted his average to .402 and took over the top spot held by San Francisco's Willie Mays since April 22.

Hitless in 10 at-bats, Mays broke out of his slump by tagging his 15th and 16th homers and powering the Giants to a 9-4 victory over Philadelphia that lifted San Francisco back into first place. Mays' 2-for-4 performance left him with a .397 average.

Williams, meanwhile, stroked two singles and a double in four at-bats during the Cubs' 10-3 loss to St. Louis, finally overcoming a Mays' lead that stood at 177 points less than a month ago.

Williams began Operation Overhaul on April 29 when he was hitting .311 and Mays was batting .488. Since then, Williams has been on a 19-game tear, swinging at a .458 clip, while Mays has hit a more-than-respectable .346 but still lost 91 points off his average.

In the other two games scheduled, pitchers stole the spotlight. Dick Farrell tied San Francisco's Juan Marichal for the most victories in the majors by winning his sixth in Houston's 3-1 triumph over Pittsburgh and Sandy Koufax struck out 11 in the Los Angeles Dodgers' 6-1 triumph over the New York Mets.

The Phillies and Giants were tied 4-4 in the fifth when Mays and Orlando Cepeda took over. Mays, who homered with one on in the first inning, snapped the tie with a solo shot and Cepeda put it out of reach by connecting after a walk to Willie McCovey. Mays and Cepeda each drove in three runs.

Richie Allen homered for the Phillies, who were stopped on one hit over the last six innings by reliever Bob Bolin.

Williams, battling to become the first Cub to win the batting title since Phil Cavaretta in 1945, led a 12-hit attack against Ray Sadecki, but the Cardinals had the power.

Tim McCarver and Bill White each tagged two-run homers and Doug Clemens smacked a bases-loaded triple. With that support, Sadecki went all the way, squaring his record at 3-3 with his third straight victory.

Farrell, bringing his record to 6-1, needed Hal Woodeshick's relief help in the ninth after Bill Virdon and Jerry Lynch opened with singles. Woodeshick got Roberto Clemente to hit into a doubleplay and struck out Gene Freese to end the threat.

The Colts got all the runs they needed in the fourth against Vern Law, now 1-4, scoring twice on singles by Nellie Fox, Walt Bond and Mike White plus an error by Lynch on the last hit.

Koufax brought his record to 4-3 and struck out 10 or more in one game for the 53rd time in his career. The record for 10-strikeout performances is 54, held jointly by Rube Waddell and Bob Feller. Koufax was touched for seven hits by the Mets.

Tommy Davis went 3-for-3 for the Dodgers while Jim Gilliam and Frank Howard each collected two hits. Koufax contributed to his own cause, singling in the fifth inning and starting a four-run rally.

Daniels Pitches 5th Win As Nats Top Tigers, 8-2

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bennie Daniels, who used to throw bee bees, has switched to baseballs and is off to the best start of his unspectacular major league career.

Daniels, 31-year-old right-hander of the Washington Senators, joined Dave Wickersham of Detroit and Minnesota's Camilo Pascual as the American League's winningest pitchers, picking up his fifth victory in the Senators' 8-2 triumph over the Tigers Thursday.

His victory total equals the number of games he won last season when he didn't gain a triumph until June 27.

Daniels needed relief help from Jim Duckworth in the ninth inning but still allowed the Tigers only four hits as he reduced his earned-run average to 2.94. He now has permitted one earned run in 15 2-3 innings.

Daniels never has reached the potential others thought he had when he joined the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1957. He pitched in four seasons with the Pirates but won only eight games while losing 16.

However, he was so fast it was said he threw bee bees.

Daniels won 12 games for the Senators in 1961, his career high, but won progressively fewer games the next two years. In 1962, for example, he won on opening day, then lost 10 in a row.

In other AL games, Baltimore outlasted Kansas City 7-6 despite Manny Jimenez' grand-slam home run and Boston nipped Los Angeles 8-7.

The Senators provided Daniels with early support, scoring three runs in the first inning against Jack Hamilton in his first American League game. Chuck Hinton's double and Jim King's single sent home two of the runs. Hinton singled across two more runs in Washington's three-run seventh.

Ed Brinkman homered in the eighth for the Senators while Gates Brown connected in the first for Detroit. The Tigers added an unearned run in the sixth.

The Orioles led 7-2 going into the Athletics' eighth. Wally Bunker, who had scattered four hits, gave up singles to Nelson Mathews and Ed Charles before walking Jim Gentile.

Stu Miller came on for the 16th time this season and got Rocky Colavito on a fly ball. Jimenez then smashed his homer, cutting Baltimore's lead to a run.

Colavito homered in the fourth, tying Harmon Killebrew for the AL lead with 11. Brooks Robinson drove in three runs and Boog Powell two for Baltimore.

The Red Sox eased by the Angels on a hit batsman and Carl Yastrzemski's triple to center field in the sixth off reliever Willie Smith.

The Angels tied the game 7-7 with five runs in the fifth. Arnold Earley walked in two of the runs. Frank Malzone singled home two Boston runs in the five-run second, and Ed Bressoud slammed a two-run homer in the fourth.

Kelso Makes 1964 Debut At Hollywood

Mighty Kelso, Horse of the Year for the past four years, makes his 1964 debut Saturday in the $50,000 Los Angeles Handicap in the top thoroughbred race of the day.

Second only to Round Table in the all-time money-winning list with earnings of $1,581,702, Kelso will use his start in the seven-furlong Los Angeles at Hollywood Park as a tuneup for the $100,000 Californian two weeks later.

Slated to go to the post against the Golden Gelding from Mrs. Richard duPont's Bohemia Stable is a strong field including Cyrano, Admiral's Voyage, Mr. Consistency and Mustard Plaster.

Kelso, making his first start since he was beaten by Mongo in the Washington, D.C. International at Laurel last November, will tote 130 pounds including his usual rider, Ismael (Milo) Valenzuela. He indicated his fitness with a sizzling 58-second workout for five furlongs Thursday.

Cyrano, assigned 124 pounds, and Admiral's Voyage, 121, also indicated their sharpness with half-mile works of 45 3-5 and 45 4-5, respectively.

Edwards' Horses Gain 8 Victories In 1 Day

James F. Edwards, president of Waterford Park and owner of Audley Farm, who has been holding a comfortable lead all season for top honors in the number of races won by owners in North America, was highly elated over the successful performances turned in by his various racing contingents throughout the country on Wednesday.

His interests completed a feat never equalled in the annals of racing when they amassed a total of eight winners for the day, excluding the two that were scheduled to start last night at Cahokia Downs, in East St. Louis, Illinois.

His purple and white silks were flashed to victory at six different racing centers. These were Be Merciful at Aqueduct, King Judex and Kell at Pimlico, Merry Madcap at Greenwood Park, Bama Boy at Suffolk Downs, Time Clock and Colonel Music at Lincoln Downs, and Bag Of Ice, winner of the feature race, a stakes affair, at Ak-Sar-Ben, Omaha, Nebraska.

Edwards, who operates Audley Farm at Berryville, Va., also is president of Waterford Park, Wheeling Downs and Fairmont Park race tracks as well as the National Mattress Company, with manufacturing plants in thirteen states. He stated that work on the new club house at Waterford Park will be started early next month with a possibility that the million dollar ediface may be ready during the late fall meeting.

Expansion Leads Agenda At Meeting Of AFL Heads

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Development of an expansion policy today is the No. 1 task on the American Football League agenda, made more crowded by a proposed all-star game rejected by the National Football League.

Dave Dixon of New Orleans, using warm weather and January television exposure as his selling points, will propose a three-game AFL title playoff. The second game—and third if needed—would be in New Orleans.

Dixon's proposal had been scheduled for Thursday, before the National Broadcasting Co. made its offer to donate $500,000 to the Kennedy Memorial Library Fund for rights to an AFL-NFL all-star game.

Joe Foss, AFL commissioner, called a special meeting before the regular session. The AFL owners unanimously approved the NBC offer.

No target date for expansion is expected to come out of the AFL meeting which ends tonight, but Foss said the owners will establish a policy and provide budget information and application blanks to prospective owners.

The AFL owners want time to consolidate their positions under the $36 million five-year NBC contract which starts in 1965 before considering new members. If and when the eight-club league decides to expand, it's likely New Orleans would be one of the first clubs considered.

Ohio Assn., Engineers Reach Pact Accord

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Contractors Association has one down and one to go in its negotiations to keep construction progress on Ohio's $185 million worth of highway projects.

The association and the Operating Engineers reached an agreement Thursday for a three-year contract to cover some 12,000 operators of bulldozers and other heavy construction equipment. The terms of the agreement, still to be ratified, were not announced.

Continuing negotiations are the Contractors and the Laborers' District Council of Ohio, International Hod Carriers, Builders and Common Laborers Union, which represents 14,000 workers.

When golfer Jack Nicklaus was 13 he shot a 70 over the tough Scioto course in Columbus, Ohio.

Rivero Seeks Revenge Over Joe Giardello

CLEVELAND (AP) — Rarely does a fighter get to show what he can do against the world's champion twice in 35 days.

Rocky Rivero, the Argentine middleweight king, gets a chance tonight to do what he failed to do here April 17—beat middleweight champion Joey Giardello.

Tonight's nationally televised (ABC) non - title rematch is scheduled for 10 rounds, starting at 9 p.m., EST. Their furious first encounter ended in a split-decision victory for Giardello, a single point being the difference.

Rivero, 27, started slowly last time but finished stronger. After the fight he was almost unmarked and said, "I could go another 20 rounds."

Although the ring-wise world champion never has been counted out, Rivero has predicted he will score a knockout within six rounds.

NFL Turns Down Plan For Grid World Series

NEW YORK (AP) — The pro football World Series is not just around the corner. In fact, we may have a man on the moon first.

The latest attempt to get the two leagues together was turned down flatly by the National Football League.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle wired an official of the National Broadcasting Co. that "the NFL has no interest in your publicized proposal".

NBC had offered to donate $500,000 to the Kennedy Memorial Library Fund for television rights to an all-star game between the NFL and the American Football League.

AFL Commissioner Joe Foss wired his acceptance from the league meeting in Kansas City.

"Any time pro football wants to attain the high level of major league baseball the leagues have got to meet headon," Foss said. "I think it's a terrific idea."

In turning down the proposal, Rozelle said the league had made plans several weeks ago with the Kennedy family for participation in the Memorial Library Fund. He pointed out that the fund would share in receipts of an exhibition game between Philadelphia and Detroit at Philadelphia Aug. 23.

Locomotive Cinders Could Help Break Big 10 Records

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — If any running records are forged in the 64th Big Ten track and field championships starting in Dyche Stadium today it may be because the old iron horse still has a kick.

Locomotive cinders, six truckloads of them, have been mixed with clay and spread to a two-inch depth over the quartermile oval in Northwestern University's football arena.

The high-geared field—pegged to wreck perhaps a half-dozen meet records—probably is too young to know much about locomotive cinders.

But they are a fine, small-grained, resilient base for running purposes and there ain't much more of them around any more.

The cinders were obtained by Northwestern track coach Bob Erhart from an unidentified alumnus at nearby Waukegan, Ill., who somehow had them stowed away.

Coach Rut Walter of Wisconsin, a premeet co-favorite with Michigan, was amazed when he inspected the track at Northwestern where he starred as a Big Ten 440 champion in the late 1920's and coached track from 1952 through 1960.

"I once kept a stockpile of locomotive cinders for my Northwestern track, but it is long gone," said Walter. "This is really something out of yesteryear, but I like it."

Duden Fires Sizzling 65 At Memphis

MEMPHIS (AP)—Bob Duden hasn't won a golf tournament in 14 years on the pro circuit, but you wouldn't believe it after his last 36 holes.

The veteran from Portland, Ore., who uses his bent-shaft putter like a croquet mallet, has everything but a hole-in-one to his credit. Duden had a 68 Wednesday, including a double eagle, an eagle and a triple bogey. That was only a preview.

Duden fired a five-under-par 65 Thursday and took the first-round lead in the $50,000 Memphis Open Golf Tournament. He had five birdies and 13 par holes.

Trailing the 43-year-old Duden by one stroke with 66s were pre-tournament favorite Arnold Palmer, Gene Littler, Gay Brewer and young Paul Bondeson. Bruce Devlin, Mason Rudolph and Doug Sanders were bunched at 67.

Defending champion Tony Lema, his ailing back much improved, had a 68. Jack Nicklaus, unable to recover from a double bogey first hole, shot a 520-over-par 72.

In all, 33 golfers broke par over the 6,466-yard, par 34-36—70 Colonial Country Club course. There were 15 others bunched at 70. The first cut will be made today with the low 80 going in Saturday's round. The low 60 will go in Sunday's final round with $7,500 going to the winner.

Edwards' Horses Gain 8 Victories In 1 Day

James F. Edwards, president of Waterford Park and owner of Audley Farm, who has been holding a comfortable lead all season for top honors in the number of races won by owners in North America, was highly elated over the successful performances turned in by his various racing contingents throughout the country on Wednesday.

His interests completed a feat never equalled in the annals of racing when they amassed a total of eight winners for the day, excluding the two that were scheduled to start last night at Cahokia Downs, in East St. Louis, Illinois.

His purple and white silks were flashed to victory at six different racing centers. These were Be Merciful at Aqueduct, King Judex and Kell at Pimlico, Merry Madcap at Greenwood Park, Bama Boy at Suffolk Downs, Time Clock and Colonel Music at Lincoln Downs, and Bag Of Ice, winner of the feature race, a stakes affair, at Ak-Sar-Ben, Omaha, Nebraska.

Edwards, who operates Audley Farm at Berryville, Va., also is president of Waterford Park, Wheeling Downs and Fairmont Park race tracks as well as the National Mattress Company, with manufacturing plants in thirteen states. He stated that work on the new club house at Waterford Park will be started early next month with a possibility that the million dollar ediface may be ready during the late fall meeting.

Expansion Leads Agenda At Meeting Of AFL Heads

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Development of an expansion policy today is the No. 1 task on the American Football League agenda, made more crowded by a proposed all-star game rejected by the National Football League.

Dave Dixon of New Orleans, using warm weather and January television exposure as his selling points, will propose a three-game AFL title playoff. The second game—and third if needed—would be in New Orleans.

Dixon's proposal had been scheduled for Thursday, before the National Broadcasting Co. made its offer to donate $500,000 to the Kennedy Memorial Library Fund for rights to an AFL-NFL all-star game.

Joe Foss, AFL commissioner, called a special meeting before the regular session. The AFL owners unanimously approved the NBC offer.

No target date for expansion is expected to come out of the AFL meeting which ends tonight, but Foss said the owners will establish a policy and provide budget information and application blanks to prospective owners.

The AFL owners want time to consolidate their positions under the $36 million five-year NBC contract which starts in 1965 before considering new members. If and when the eight-club league decides to expand, it's likely New Orleans would be one of the first clubs considered.

Ohio Assn., Engineers Reach Pact Accord

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Contractors Association has one down and one to go in its negotiations to keep construction progress on Ohio's $185 million worth of highway projects.

The association and the Operating Engineers reached an agreement Thursday for a three-year contract to cover some 12,000 operators of bulldozers and other heavy construction equipment. The terms of the agreement, still to be ratified, were not announced.

Continuing negotiations are the Contractors and the Laborers' District Council of Ohio, International Hod Carriers, Builders and Common Laborers Union, which represents 14,000 workers.

When golfer Jack Nicklaus was 13 he shot a 70 over the tough Scioto course in Columbus, Ohio.

Rivero Seeks Revenge Over Joe Giardello

CLEVELAND (AP) — Rarely does a fighter get to show what he can do against the world's champion twice in 35 days.

Rocky Rivero, the Argentine middleweight king, gets a chance tonight to do what he failed to do here April 17—beat middleweight champion Joey Giardello.

Tonight's nationally televised (ABC) non - title rematch is scheduled for 10 rounds, starting at 9 p.m., EST. Their furious first encounter ended in a split-decision victory for Giardello, a single point being the difference.

Rivero, 27, started slowly last time but finished stronger. After the fight he was almost unmarked and said, "I could go another 20 rounds."

Although the ring-wise world champion never has been counted out, Rivero has predicted he will score a knockout within six rounds.

NFL Turns Down Plan For Grid World Series

NEW YORK (AP) — The pro football World Series is not just around the corner. In fact, we may have a man on the moon first.

The latest attempt to get the two leagues together was turned down flatly by the National Football League.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle wired an official of the National Broadcasting Co. that "the NFL has no interest in your publicized proposal".

NBC had offered to donate $500,000 to the Kennedy Memorial Library Fund for television rights to an all-star game between the NFL and the American Football League.

AFL Commissioner Joe Foss wired his acceptance from the league meeting in Kansas City.

"Any time pro football wants to attain the high level of major league baseball the leagues have got to meet headon," Foss said. "I think it's a terrific idea."

In turning down the proposal, Rozelle said the league had made plans several weeks ago with the Kennedy family for participation in the Memorial Library Fund. He pointed out that the fund would share in receipts of an exhibition game between Philadelphia and Detroit at Philadelphia Aug. 23.

Locomotive Cinders Could Help Break Big 10 Records

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — If any running records are forged in the 64th Big Ten track and field championships starting in Dyche Stadium today it may be because the old iron horse still has a kick.

Locomotive cinders, six truckloads of them, have been mixed with clay and spread to a two-inch depth over the quartermile oval in Northwestern University's football arena.

The high-geared field—pegged to wreck perhaps a half-dozen meet records—probably is too young to know much about locomotive cinders.

But they are a fine, small-grained, resilient base for running purposes and there ain't much more of them around any more.

The cinders were obtained by Northwestern track coach Bob Erhart from an unidentified alumnus at nearby Waukegan, Ill., who somehow had them stowed away.

Coach Rut Walter of Wisconsin, a premeet co-favorite with Michigan, was amazed when he inspected the track at Northwestern where he starred as a Big Ten 440 champion in the late 1920's and coached track from 1952 through 1960.

"I once kept a stockpile of locomotive cinders for my Northwestern track, but it is long gone," said Walter. "This is really something out of yesteryear, but I like it."

Duden Fires Sizzling 65 At Memphis

MEMPHIS (AP)—Bob Duden hasn't won a golf tournament in 14 years on the pro circuit, but you wouldn't believe it after his last 36 holes.

The veteran from Portland, Ore., who uses his bent-shaft putter like a croquet mallet, has everything but a hole-in-one to his credit. Duden had a 68 Wednesday, including a double eagle, an eagle and a triple bogey. That was only a preview.

Duden fired a five-under-par 65 Thursday and took the first-round lead in the $50,000 Memphis Open Golf Tournament. He had five birdies and 13 par holes.

Trailing the 43-year-old Duden by one stroke with 66s were pre-tournament favorite Arnold Palmer, Gene Littler, Gay Brewer and young Paul Bondeson. Bruce Devlin, Mason Rudolph and Doug Sanders were bunched at 67.

Defending champion Tony Lema, his ailing back much improved, had a 68. Jack Nicklaus, unable to recover from a double bogey first hole, shot a 520-over-par 72.

In all, 33 golfers broke par over the 6,466-yard, par 34-36—70 Colonial Country Club course. There were 15 others bunched at 70. The first cut will be made today with the low 80 going in Saturday's round. The low 60 will go in Sunday's final round with $7,500 going to the winner.

Johnson Unveils Opportunities

Michigan U. Graduating Students Hear President

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—President Johnson told 4,900 graduating students today that during their lives they "have the opportunity to move not only toward the rich society and the powerful society, but upward to the great society."

It will require, he said, the rebuilding of cities and countryside.

Johnson, in a philosophical speech prepared for commencement exercises at the University of Michigan, declared that the challenge of the next half century is whether the nation has the wisdom to use its wealth "to enrich and elevate our national life—and to advance the quality of American civilization."

"The great society," he said, "rests on abundance and liberty for all. It demands an end to poverty and racial injustice but that is just the beginning."

Johnson pictured the great society as an affluent, cultured oasis, "where man can renew contact with nature" and where people "are more concerned with the quality of their goals than the quantity of their goods."

This would be a place, he said, of completely rebuilt cities, unspoiled countryside and bustling classrooms.

"In the next 40 years," he said, "we must rebuild the entire urban United States."

Johnson quoted the philosopher Aristotle that "men come together in cities in order to live, but they remain together in order to live the good life."

The President added: "It is harder and harder to live the good life in American cities."

Johnson planned to spend 2½ hours in Michigan, flying first from Washington to Detroit by jet, then changing to a helicopter for the hop to Ann Arbor to receive an honorary degree.

The President was due back in Washington in plenty of time for tonight's annual dinner of the White House Correspondents Association.

Johnson, in his Ann Arbor address, announced he will create working groups to prepare a series of conferences "on the cities, on natural beauty, on the quality of education, and on other emerging challenges."

The President added that solution of such problems would not rest "on a massive program in Washington" nor solely on the resources of local authority. He said there must be cooperation through "a creative federalism, between the national capital and the leaders of local communities."

"A second place where we begin to build the great society is in our countryside," he said. "We have always prided ourselves on being not only America the strong, but America the beautiful. Today that beauty is in danger."

Johnson said still another central issue of the great society is the creation of classrooms where "every young mind is set free to scan the farthest reaches of thought and imagination."

Mother Shoots 2 Children And Then Kills Self

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Double murder and suicide is the ruling in the deaths of a 20-year-old Springfield mother and her two children, found shot to death Thursday.

Coroner Austin Richards, who made the ruling, said Mrs. Edith Jeannette Hubbert had been despondent over family troubles. She had been separated from her husband, Edward, for about five months and had been living with her parents.

The children, 23 - month-old Corrina Denise and Rex Elliott 7-weeks - old, had been shot around the heart and Mrs. Hubbert was shot through the temple with a .38 caliber revolver.

Driver Cited In Crash On Super-Road

A Wellsville motorist was charged with driving while intoxicated after his car went onto the medial strip of the East Liverpool-Wellsville Super - road, traveled on the divider for some distance then rammed another car head-on Thursday night about 7:30.

John Thomas Wiley, 54, of 1418 Commerce St., was cited after his 1954 coupe veered into an oncoming auto operated by Ruth Dale Simpson, 60, of 215 8th St., Wellsville.

The woman apparently saw Wiley's southbound car on the divider and slowed and attempted to avoid a crash, officers said.

Wiley, arraigned this morning before Municipal Judge Samuel Chertoff, asked time to obtain counsel. His hearing was continued until Tuesday with bond set at $500.

There was extensive damage to both autos, the patrol said. Neither driver was hurt.

Carl Russell Miller, 40, of Westfield Rd. was cited after he backed out of a private drive and collided with another car on Duncan Ave. a mile northwest of Route 30 at 5:25 p. m.

Officers said Miller's 1953 sedan collided with a 1961 auto operated by Alfred Grimes, 60, of East Liverpool. Mrs. Priscilla Grimes, 50, wife of the driver, suffered bruises of the ankle and was to be treated by a physician.

The DeMolay degree was conferred on five candidates at a meeting of the Harding Chapter Thursday night at the Masonic Temple. Edward Birch, master councilor, presided in the East.

Hoffman reported that the group's softball team will begin play in the near future. Hoffman also gave the treasurer's report and Joe Blankenship the almoner's report.

The meeting closed with prayer by Rich Fisher.

Lunch was served in the grillroom by the Mothers Club.

$60,000 Action Filed Over Loan For Firm

LISBON — A suit to collect a loan and for punitive damages totaling $60,000 was filed in Common Pleas Court Thursday by A. H. Ganger of Shaker Heights.

The Lisbon Manufacturing Co. 321 S. Beaver St., and James W. Dickey of Miami Beach, Fla., are defendants.

Ganger claims in his petition he loaned Dickey and the company $11,750, and that Dickey made a $1,750 payment but has refused to pay the balance. He asks 10,000 for the loan and $50,000 punitive damages due to Dickey's allegedly fraudulent and malicious conduct and misrepresentation in securing the loan.

Pennsy Train Runs Ordered Continued

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio says the Pennsylvania Railroad must continue to operate its three passenger trains between Cleveland and Pittsburgh on Saturdays and Sundays.

The railroad had sought to end the weekend trains, contending there would be little inconvenience to the public and an annual $48,668 savings to the railroad. The utilities commission dismissed the application Thursday.

Tri-State Industrial Nurses See Toronto Titanium Plant

Members of the Tri-State Valley Industrial Nurses Association were guests of the Titanium Metals Corp. of America at a dinner meeting Tuesday night at the Toronto Lanes in Toronto. About 27 attended.

Following dinner, they were taken on a tour of the firm's Toronto plant and later met in the conference room where W. H. Iddings, safety director in charge of plant security, spoke on the history and present plant expansions.

He said the demand for titanium is increasing and there "are no limits to its possibilities." At present, it is used in missiles, space capsules and jet planes. He mentioned that 200 pounds of titanium from Toronto was used in Col. John Glenn's capsule.

Iddings said the plant is a closed corporation owned by the National Lead Co. and the Allegheny Ludlum Steel Co. and ships 52 per cent of all the titanium used in the world. Australia is the source of the titanium ore.

Mrs. Yvonne Johnson of the Weirton Steel Co., president, and Mrs. Carmel Senatore of the Titanium Corp. were named delegates to the American Association of Industrial Nurses' Presidents' meeting Sept. 26-27 at New York City. Alternate is Mrs. Nettie Tedreau of the Steubenville Plant of the Wheeling Steel Corp.

Mrs. Judith Whipkey of the Mobray Chemical Corp. at New Martinsville, was announced as a new member and Mrs. Edna Barnes of the Dover Steel Co. an associate member.

Attending from here were Mrs. Ruby Webb of the Hall China Co. and Mrs. Rhea Nile of the Sterling China Co.

A dinner session will be held Sept. 18 at Oglebay Park, Wheeling, with Wheeling Steel a host.

West Virginia Names Teacher Of The Year

CHARLESTON (AP) — West Virginia's "Teacher of the Year" is Miss Mabel Nichols of Diana, Webster County.

She was named Thursday by State Superintendent of Schools Rex Smith.

An English and geography teacher at Webster Springs High School, Miss Nichols began her teaching career in 1933 at Palmer, Braxton County. Since then she has taught in Braxton, Monongalia and Webster counties.

Thursday's announcement of her selection was withheld for several weeks pending results of the national teacher of the year award. Miss Nichols was West Virginia's entry, but did not win.

School District's Special Election May Cost $5,700

A special election on a proposed $3,334,000 bond issue in the 43 precincts of the East Liverpool School District would cost the Board of Education an estimated $5,700 to $5,800, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the County Election Board, said today.

State law requires the subdivision affected to pay virtually all the costs of a special election, including the wages of precinct judges and clerks, printing of ballots, rental of polling places, transportation and erection of equipment and other incidental charges, O'Hanlon pointed out. However, the county would be required to foot the bill for poll books, estimated at $645.

Under a proposal being studied by the school board, enactment of the bond issue would clear the way for a loan of nearly $1 million from the state for construction of a new senior high school and three elementary buildings.

It has been estimated a levy of 4.7 mills probably would be required to retire the bonds over a 23-year span.

Committee Finishes Class Reunion Plans

Final arrangements for the reunion of the 1934 Class of East Liverpool High School were made when the committee met Wednesday night at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Mary Musuraca, of St. Clair Ave.

Donald Skidmore, finance chairman, reported 105 reservations. The group voted to extend the reservation date to June 1 to enable more to make plans. Tickets may be purchased at Robins & Sant.

The informal dinner dance will be held June 13 at The Willows in Industry.

The group decided on souvenirs and prizes. Other members of the committee are Mrs. Gerry Reed, Mrs. June Davis, Mrs. Edna Jones, Mrs. Wilma Mautz and Ed Sanford.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: I have heard complaints about the musty odor in clothes hampers. . . .

I put all the wrappers from my toilet soap in the bottom of my clothes hamper! A generous layer of them keeps a fresh aroma in the hamper until I'm ready to do the next washing.

M. RUSH

Now who besides our Miss Rush has ever thought about utilizing a soap wrapper?

If we gals would stop to think about it, that bar of soap may have been in the wrapper for months and months and months . . .

I am sure that the wrapper is thoroughly "permeated" with this luscious aroma.

So why not put them in your laundry hamper? Or closets? Or drawers? You're a little darlin' to send us this hint.

LOVE, HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Did you know that the medium speed on a regular mixer is the high speed on a portable one?

This is absolutely true . . . In other words if the recipe you are using says "beat with an electric mixer on medium for two minutes," and you happen to be using a portable type mixer, you would use the HIGH SPEED, not the medium speed. However, you do not change the time you are to beat it. That remains the same.

Yours for a better cake!

J. P.

DEAR HELOISE: I would like to pass on a time saver:

When wiping your outside clotheslines, before hanging up your clothes, use two cloths instead of one to wipe the line.

This way you can wash the length of the clothesline, two lines at a time, with one rag in each hand and save half your time.

For those who have extremely soiled clotheslines, they can put a cloth in each hand, go down ONE clothesline at a time and not only remove soil with the first cloth but remove more with the second!

D. NIBBE.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: The most helpful and fool-proof gadget I have discovered for a kitchen is a real handy two-legged, two-armed little woman with a pretty apron wrapped around her.

WALTER TURNER.

DEAR HELOISE: Did you ever try to use your buttonhole attachment on flimsy material with and find that the material slips and the buttonhole is impossible to make?

I paint the underneath side of the area (where the buttonhole is to be made) with a coat of colorless fingernail polish. Allow it to dry thoroughly then make the buttonhole. This keeps the material from raveling!

MRS. ALLEN.

DEAR HELOISE: When my husband grills steaks or hamburger patties on our charcoal grill and we have left over charcoal which has hardly been burned . . . he takes those pieces out with tongs and puts them in a dry two-pound coffee can and immediately puts the lid on. They are perfectly good to use the next time. . .

There is no messy water to dry out and when the lid is put on the can the burning stops at once!

MRS. ALAN RUSSETT.

DEAR HELOISE: To keep your portable dishwasher from splashing water all over the drainboards when it expels, place a tall receptacle directly under the outlet.

EVE.

DEAR HELOISE: To straighten fringe on an article after it has been laundered, slap it hard against your ironing board or a table. The fringe will straighten out perfectly.

Provision (Title 7) In Civil Rights Bill Explained

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the 11 weeks of Senate debate and cloakroom bargaining on the civil rights bill, much of the attention has focused on the equal employment section.

It has attracted a large share of the scores of amendments proposed to change the bill.

The equal opportunity section, known as Title Seven, is one of two provisions which break ground for federal law. The other is the public accommodations provision aimed at discrimination in hotels and motels restaurants and amusement places.

Republican and Democratic Senate leaders and administration officials have accepted a number of amendments to the job title as part of a whole package of changes. They hope the proposed changes will win the bill the two-thirds majority needed to break the Southern filibuster.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, chief author of the compromise package of amendments, is fond of pointing out there was no equal employment provision in the original civil rights bill submitted to Congress last year by the late President John F. Kennedy.

But Dirksen has said he can support its retention if his suggestions for changing it are accepted.

As the bill cleared the House, it would ban discrimination in any phase of employment or membership on the part of employers, unions or employment agencies on grounds of race, color, religion, national origin or sex.

It would apply to companies and unions with 100 or more employes or members in the first year, 75 or more in the second, 50 or more in the third, and 25 thereafter.

A five - member Equal Employment Opportunity Commission would be created to receive complaints.

The commission is directed to try to settle any complaint by conciliation and persuasion. But if those methods fail, it may bring an injunction suit to end the discrimination.

Dirksen's agreed - upon package of amendments would modify this so that the commission could call on the attorney general to bring a suit only if a pattern of discrimination existed.

In individual cases, the aggrieved person would have to file suit, although the attorney general would be allowed to intervene.

Under the House bill, the federal commission could allow a state or local agency to handle a complaint if it found that the agency was functioning effectively.

Dirksen's amendments would strengthen power of the states by giving them exclusive jurisdiction of any case for a specific period. Thirty-one states now have fair employment practices laws of some type.

Southern senators simply want Title Seven eliminated.

They argue that it would give the federal government far too much power to interfere in hiring, firing and promotions.

The voting rights section of the House bill, Title One, would extend the federal powers in this field contained in the 1957 Civil Rights Act.

It would require that identical standards be applied to all voters in elections for federal officials, provide that immaterial errors on registration forms must be disregarded, and require that literacy tests must be in writing unless the individual agrees to an oral test.

In voter discrimination suits brought by the attorney general under the 1957 law, the presumption is created by the 1964 bill that a sixth-grade education is sufficient to meet the literacy test.

The attorney general is allowed to request that a three-judge court be set up to hear such suits.

Southern senators bitterly attack the latter provision, contending it would allow the attorney general to shop around for a favorable court.

They also insist that the title constitutes an additional interference with the right of states to control their own elections.

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Term 'Immature' Often Misused

A mother once wrote me that the teacher of her child in the first grade said he is immature. This mother wanted to know if it was some kind of disease. Unfortunately, some teachers use this word with parents without explaining what they mean by it. An occasional teacher may not really know herself what it means. She may have heard it in summer courses or from other teachers or read it in some professional books or journals.

Dr. Garry Myers

She may use it in talking with a parent about any child who doesn't seem to get on well in the early grades. Usually she means that this child acts much younger than the other children of his group, or doesn't catch on in the classroom routines.

—:—

HE MAY BE a daydreamer to not pay attention well to the directions she gives. He may not join well in anything the class is supposed to do. He may be a kind of lone wolf.

He may expect the teacher to do for him what most of her other children do for themselves. He may expect her to be a kind of nursemaid to him.

Yet he may not be dull. He may, indeed, be brighter than the average child of his age.

If your child has been labeled immature by his teacher, ask yourself how well your boy takes care of himself and his own things at home, how well he waits on himself and does for himself what he is able to do, how dependent or independent he is of you physically and emotionally.

Is he uncomfortable out of your sight even for short periods? Must you or some other person or the TV always be amusing him, or can he often amuse himself alone? Does he also find ample amusement with other children of his age and have fun playing and making things with them? If you find him over - dependent on you, try gradually to help him grow more self - reliant.

ONE THING YOU and Dad should do for him is to read to him daily even after he is able to read some himself. This experience teaches him to listen attentively, so useful at school. Sometimes have one or more other children of his age present so he may learn to listen to what they are listening to.

With these children present, help them make and do some things and play some simple games together so he learns to listen to directions and act cooperatively.

When he shows interest in knowing what some words are on the page from which you read to him, compliment him. Warmly praise his success at such learning.

If he does not say some words plainly or mispronounces them, try to help him to say them correctly.

At home, hold him strictly to desirable routines and family regulation.

Train him in due regard for the rights and possessions of others in the family. Assign him a few chores he can do and hold him to doing them regularly and on time.

My bulletins, "Self - Reliance," "Your Child and His Playmates," and "Helping Child at Home in Early Steps in Reading," may be secured by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Conditions on June 4 and 5, 1964, are expected to be somewhat the same as those prevailing in the autumn of 1963, when observers at Lowell Observatory in Flagstaff, Ariz., reported seeing curious lunar glows.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: I have heard complaints about the musty odor in clothes hampers. . . .

I put all the wrappers from my toilet soap in the bottom of my clothes hamper! A generous layer of them keeps a fresh aroma in the hamper until I'm ready to do the next washing.

M. RUSH

Now who besides our Miss Rush has ever thought about utilizing a soap wrapper?

If we gals would stop to think about it, that bar of soap may have been in the wrapper for months and months and months . . .

I am sure that the wrapper is thoroughly "permeated" with this luscious aroma.

So why not put them in your laundry hamper? Or closets? Or drawers? You're a little darlin' to send us this hint.

LOVE, HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Did you know that the medium speed on a regular mixer is the high speed on a portable one?

This is absolutely true . . . In other words if the recipe you are using says "beat with an electric mixer on medium for two minutes," and you happen to be using a portable type mixer, you would use the HIGH SPEED, not the medium speed. However, you do not change the time you are to beat it. That remains the same.

Yours for a better cake!

J. P.

DEAR HELOISE: I would like to pass on a time saver:

When wiping your outside clotheslines, before hanging up your clothes, use two cloths instead of one to wipe the line.

This way you can wash the length of the clothesline, two lines at a time, with one rag in each hand and save half your time.

For those who have extremely soiled clotheslines, they can put a cloth in each hand, go down ONE clothesline at a time and not only remove soil with the first cloth but remove more with the second!

D. NIBBE.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: The most helpful and fool-proof gadget I have discovered for a kitchen is a real handy two-legged, two-armed little woman with a pretty apron wrapped around her.

WALTER TURNER.

DEAR HELOISE: Did you ever try to use your buttonhole attachment on flimsy material with and find that the material slips and the buttonhole is impossible to make?

I paint the underneath side of the area (where the buttonhole is to be made) with a coat of colorless fingernail polish. Allow it to dry thoroughly then make the buttonhole. This keeps the material from raveling!

MRS. ALLEN.

DEAR HELOISE: When my husband grills steaks or hamburger patties on our charcoal grill and we have left over charcoal which has hardly been burned . . . he takes those pieces out with tongs and puts them in a dry two-pound coffee can and immediately puts the lid on. They are perfectly good to use the next time. . .

There is no messy water to dry out and when the lid is put on the can the burning stops at once!

MRS. ALAN RUSSETT.

DEAR HELOISE: To keep your portable dishwasher from splashing water all over the drainboards when it expels, place a tall receptacle directly under the outlet.

EVE.

DEAR HELOISE: To straighten fringe on an article after it has been laundered, slap it hard against your ironing board or a table. The fringe will straighten out perfectly.

PEGGY M.

Provision (Title 7) In Civil Rights Bill Explained

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the 11 weeks of Senate debate and cloakroom bargaining on the civil rights bill, much of the attention has focused on the equal employment section.

It has attracted a large share of the scores of amendments proposed to change the bill.

The equal opportunity section, known as Title Seven, is one of two provisions which break ground for federal law. The other is the public accommodations provision aimed at discrimination in hotels and motels restaurants and amusement places.

Republican and Democratic Senate leaders and administration officials have accepted a number of amendments to the job title as part of a whole package of changes. They hope the proposed changes will win the bill the two-thirds majority needed to break the Southern filibuster.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, chief author of the compromise package of amendments, is fond of pointing out there was no equal employment provision in the original civil rights bill submitted to Congress last year by the late President John F. Kennedy.

But Dirksen has said he can support its retention if his suggestions for changing it are accepted.

As the bill cleared the House, it would ban discrimination in any phase of employment or membership on the part of employers, unions or employment agencies on grounds of race, color, religion, national origin or sex.

It would apply to companies and unions with 100 or more employes or members in the first year, 75 or more in the second, 50 or more in the third, and 25 thereafter.

A five - member Equal Employment Opportunity Commission would be created to receive complaints.

The commission is directed to try to settle any complaint by conciliation and persuasion. But if those methods fail, it may bring an injunction suit to end the discrimination.

Dirksen's agreed - upon package of amendments would modify this so that the commission could call on the attorney general to bring a suit only if a pattern of discrimination existed.

In individual cases, the aggrieved person would have to file suit, although the attorney general would be allowed to intervene.

Under the House bill, the federal commission could allow a state or local agency to handle a complaint if it found that the agency was functioning effectively.

Dirksen's amendments would strengthen power of the states by giving them exclusive jurisdiction of any case for a specific period. Thirty-one states now have fair employment practices laws of some type.

Southern senators simply want Title Seven eliminated.

They argue that it would give the federal government far too much power to interfere in hiring, firing and promotions.

It would require that identical standards be applied to all voters in elections for federal officials, provide that immaterial errors on registration forms must be disregarded, and require that literacy tests must be in writing unless the individual agrees to an oral test.

In voter discrimination suits brought by the attorney general under the 1957 law, the presumption is created by the 1964 bill that a sixth-grade education is sufficient to meet the literacy test.

The attorney general is allowed to request that a three-judge court be set up to hear such suits.

Southern senators bitterly attack the latter provision, contending it would allow the attorney general to shop around for a favorable court.

They also insist that the title constitutes an additional interference with the right of states to control their own elections.

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Term 'Immature' Often Misused

A mother once wrote me that the teacher of her child in the first grade said he is immature. This mother wanted to know if it was some kind of disease. Unfortunately, some teachers use this word with parents without explaining what they mean by it. An occasional teacher may not really know herself what it means. She may have heard it in summer courses or from other teachers or read it in some professional books or journals.

Dr. Garry Myers

She may use it in talking with a parent about any child who doesn't seem to get on well in the early grades. Usually she means that this child acts much younger than the other children of his group, or doesn't catch on in the classroom routines.

—:—

HE MAY BE a daydreamer to not pay attention well to the directions she gives. He may not join well in anything the class is supposed to do. He may be a kind of lone wolf.

He may expect the teacher to do for him what most of her other children do for themselves. He may expect her to be a kind of nursemaid to him.

Yet he may not be dull. He may, indeed, be brighter than the average child of his age.

If your child has been labeled immature by his teacher, ask yourself how well your boy takes care of himself and his own things at home, how well he waits on himself and does for himself what he is able to do, how dependent or independent he is of you physically and emotionally.

Is he uncomfortable out of your sight even for short periods? Must you or some other person or the TV always be amusing him, or can he often amuse himself alone? Does he also find ample amusement with other children of his age and have fun playing and making things with them? If you find him over - dependent on you, try gradually to help him grow more self - reliant.

ONE THING YOU and Dad should do for him is to read to him daily even after he is able to read some himself. This experience teaches him to listen attentively, so useful at school. Sometimes have one or more other children of his age present so he may learn to listen to what they are listening to.

With these children present, help them make and do some things and play some simple games together so he learns to listen to directions and act cooperatively.

When he shows interest in knowing what some words are on the page from which you read to him, compliment him. Warmly praise his success at such learning.

If he does not say some words plainly or mispronounces them, try to help him to say them correctly.

At home, hold him strictly to desirable routines and family regulation.

Train him in due regard for the rights and possessions of others in the family. Assign him a few chores he can do and hold him to doing them regularly and on time.

My bulletins, "Self - Reliance," "Your Child and His Playmates," and "Helping Child at Home in Early Steps in Reading," may be secured by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Conditions on June 4 and 5, 1964, are expected to be somewhat the same as those prevailing in the autumn of 1963, when observers at Lowell Observatory in Flagstaff, Ariz., reported seeing curious lunar glows.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I create my own warning device that the water in the bottom of my double-boiler has boiled away?

A. A few marbles placed in the bottom of your double - boiler will raise such a clatter when the water is gone that you'll jump to the rescue.

Q. How can I prevent home-made jams from crystallizing?

A. Add a tablespoon of glycerin to each pint of jam. This makes your jam more transparent, and reduces the amount of sugar needed.

Q. How can I remove fingermarks from polished furniture tops?

A. Use a cloth saturated in olive oil. When applying your wax polish, use as little as possible, and rub until the surface is free of film. If you do this conscientiously, your furniture will increase in attractiveness.

Q. Some of my older pieces of china have coffee and tea stains in the hairline cracks in their glaze. Is there something I can do to improve the appearance of these pieces?

A. Make a paste of baking soda and water, and apply to the stained areas. After letting stand for about an hour, wash with soap and warm water. In cases of severe discolorations, this treatment may need repeating two or three times.

Q. How can I freshen rancid butter?

A. Break the butter up and put into fresh milk. Allow it to absorb the milk, drain thoroughly, then wash in cold salted water and work it again into the desired form.

Junior Editors Quiz on CALENDARS

QUESTION: Who worked out our present-day calendar?

ANSWER: Ancient peoples used the phases of the moon, counting 12 lunar months as a year. To make up for the difference between the length of this year and the year as measured by the seasons, they added an extra month every four years. The early Romans also used a calendar based on the moon. Their year was 355 days long. The months corresponding to March, May, July and October each had 31 days; February had 28 days; and the rest had 29. Again, an extra month was added about every fourth year.

This still did not fit in with the year of the seasons however, and in 46 B.C. Emperor Julius Caesar ordered the adoption of the Julian calendar. This way the year had 365 days with one day added every fourth or "leap" year. He distributed the 10 extra days among the 29-day months so they are the same as they are today.

The system worked fairly well for about 1500 years, but Caesar's year was still longer than the solar year and the extra time accumulated so the calendar did not match the seasons. In 1582 Pope Gregory XIII decreed that 10 days be dropped from the calendar in that year to make up for the error, but kept Caesar's general plan. He also directed that three times in every 400 years the leap year arrangement should be dropped.
